LEIPSIC WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS

FUMES FROM STOVE KILL MAN, WIFE

Double Tragedy Results from Defective Flue

NEIGHBORS FIND PAIR

Secret Pact Prevents Their Being Buried Together

LEIPSIC — (Special) — Carbon monoxide gas claimed its second victim here early Monday when Mrs. David Ash failed to rally from the effects of the fumes and died.

Her husband was the first fatality, his dead body having been found at the head of the stairs in their home here early Saturday by neighbors who became alarmed when the Ashs did not appear as usual.

A defective flue and an open door in the hard coal stove are held responsible for the tragedy. It is believed Ash detected the slight odor of the gas and tried to gain the downstairs in order to shut the door. He was stricken at the head of the stairs and his wife was overcome while in bed.

NEVER CONSCIOUS

Mrs. Ash never regained consciousness and her heart became steadily weaker. She died at 12:30 a. m. Monday following a relapse. It had been reported Sunday evening that she had a fighting chance to recover if her heart strengthened.

A secret pact, never before revealed will prevent the burial of Mr and Mrs. Ash side by side in the same grave. Friends had planned a double funeral and burial together in case Mrs. Ash should die

In accordance with the pact, made at the time of their marriage, Ash will be buried beside his first wife in Christ cemetery, near this village and Mrs. Ash will be buried beside that of her first husband, Wesley Young, in Harmon cemetery, east of Ottawa near Gilboa.

Funeral for Ash were held Monday at 1 30 p. m. at the Methodist church in Leipsic. Rev. R. Moon officiated.

Services for Mrs. Ash will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m., at the Methodist church with Rev. Moon officiating.

APPEALS BOARD TO BE NAMED

Members to Settle Grievances in Zoning Code

Appointment of an appeals board to act as a court in settlement of grievances in enforcement of the new zoning ordinance in the city will be completed Monday night by city commission.

The board of five, composed of persons acquainted with real estate construction, will have jurisdiction in the settlement of any grievances in the location of buildings in certain district outlined under the zoning ordinance.

The zoning code in the establishment of a residential, business and manufacturing district in the city, provides for the restriction of manufacturing establishments or business buildings in residential districts and tends to protect property valuation in residential sections

The board of appeals under the terms of the ordinance is to meet at least once each month or at any other time necessary to review any complaints placed before the board by property owners A majority vote of the board is necessary for amendments

While commissioners have not decided on any persons to serve on the board, a number of names will be presented Monday night by City Manager C. A. Bingham for consideration of the commission.

BUILDING CONSUMED

MONTPILIER, Ohio — More than $150 000 loss was caused here Sunday night by fire in the Louden apartment store here which destroyed the homes of five families living in the block and damaged the A. J. Brown furniture store

Fire departments from Bryan and Pioneer were called, but they were unable to check the blaze. The ruins were still smoldering this morning.

REGULAR

At 3 p. m. on the 30th of each month Edward Pilchard must leave his home to spend the night at the Meigs-co (Ohio) jail. This is the unique sentence that was passed on him in March after his plea of manslaughter had been accepted in connection with the fatal shooting of his brother, William. He must make four more of these monthly trips to the jail.

CHRISTIAN LIFE WAS HELP

Pastor Addresses Students on Furnace Mystery

PRAISES PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Thanks Friends for Show of Confidence

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Addressing a mass meeting of students and the faculty of Capital University here today, Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church, whose wife's body was found practically cremated in the furnace of their Bexley home, declared "we could never have cleared our skirts of the suspicion of the foulest of crimes if our family, by the grace of God, had not been living as becometh Christians."

SUSPICION AROUSED

"It required public servants of cool head and steady nerves and with a high resolve to do their sworn duty to ferret out the truth," he said. "The excited populace was astir. Suspicion was aroused. The voice of the slanderer was heard. It has been of inestimable value to us that the civil authorities having the tragic case in hand are men who have made every possible effort to faithfully discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their knowledge and ability.

"They have worked untiringly that culprits, if any, might be brought to justice and that the innocent might be protected and their good name preserved"

Rev. Mr. Sheatsley's address was made to announce to the university student body and faculty members that he would resume teaching classes at the institution tomorrow.

"It may take me some little time to settle down to strenuous work" he said.

"As I look into your faces there comes to me, first of all, the thought of the mighty stream of assurance and sympathy which you poured in upon our souls in the hour of tragedy and grief. My children join me in extending our sincerest gratitude to all of you and for your many messages of sympathy, floral tributes and countless acts of kindness and good will; and we trust that as opportunity offers we may in some small measure requite you for the great services rendered."

After telling of the purpose of the university to inspire "a Christian walk and conversation" Rev. Mr. Sheatsley said:

CHRISTIANITY PRACTICE

"And, remember, too, the Christian life is eminently practical. It is not just some theoretical ideal, noble indeed in its way but impossible of attainment. Day by day it helps you keep your head and your heart; it helps you to be a friend and companion; and in the hour of gloom, doubt or seeming despair, it serves as a strong anchor for the troubled soul. It is significant that among the hundreds of letters of love and sympathy which we received, only those which pointed to the Christian's

68TH CONGRESS ASSEMBLES

King Winter Expected To Loosen Grip

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press)—Wilmington, O., was coldest spot in the United States early today, Assistant United States Weatherman Kirk said this morning. The mercury dropped to three degrees above zero. The cold wave which covered all of Ohio was accompanied by a statewide snowfall reported to be five inches in some places. One death has been reported from exposure.

Cloudy weather predicted for tomorrow is expected to break the cold spell.

Other communities reporting low temperatures in the state were Washington C. H., 3-6; Columbus 9; Cincinnati 12; Wooster 12; Toledo 14. The region along Lake Erie was reported to be cloudy and the temperature fell to but 24 at Cleveland.

Reports of automobiles skidding and crashing into telephone posts and other automobiles were numerous from all over the state, due to the slippery conditions of the streets.

Warren reported the greatest amount of snowfall, five inches. A blanket of snow two inches deep covered most of the counties in Ohio.

19 FACE COURT MONDAY

Three Persons Fined for Violation of Traffic Law

Nineteen traffic violators faced Judge Neal Poling in Criminal court Monday morning and entered pleas of guilty to charges of overrunning "stop" signs, wrong parking and driving automobiles on license tags issued in other states.

Three violators paid fines for failing to stop, and 16, most of whom were out-of-town motorists, were dismissed with warnings.

Following the ultimatum issued late Saturday by Chief Lanker, warning motorists to drive with dimmed lights within the city, very few violations were noted and not one arrest was made, according to police records

WARNING HEEDED

A survey taken Sunday evening showed the warning was being heeded, Lanker said Monday. Police vigilance will be maintained, however, and the dimming law will be strictly enforced, the chief said.

Those who paid fines Monday were, H. C. Waitman, of 512 W. Spring-st; C. W. Counsellor, of 865 W. Elm-st and C. H. Barr, of 310 S. Scott-st. Otis Dotson, of 734 S. Main-st, pleaded not guilty to overrunning a sign and will receive a hearing Tuesday afternoon.

The following, who entered guilty pleas to parking wrong in the Public-sq and to driving with foreign license tags, were dismissed:

Lester Spyker, Cridersville; E. DeVoe, 1009 Leland-av; F. Allen, Ada, B. C. Frysinger, 974 Leland-av; Floyd Males, 1102 1-2 St John's-av; Dave Reinhart, 942 N. West-st; C. E. Xanders, 633 W. Spring-st; M. B. Busic, 463 S Pine-st.

DRIVE SLOW

Slow driving of automobiles on city streets coated with ice is urged by Chief Lanker to reduce the number of accidents at street intersections.

While speed of 25 miles an hous is permissible under the existing traffic law in the residential section, Lanker believes this rate of speed should be reduced during winter months because motorists are unable to completely control their machines on snow and ice coated pavements.

Compliance with the "stop" legislation at street intersections is to be demanded by Lanker who states that this measure is a great safety aid and in obeying the law motorists will be compelled to drive slow between "stops" or else have their machine skid over the lines.

BODY ADJOURNS AFTER BRIEF SESSION

Mark of Respect Shown to Departed Members

MESSAGE IS AWAITED

Republican Side Has Many New Sore Spots

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The sixty-eighth congress assembled today for its farewell session with little prospect for the transaction of any important business beyond passage of the annual appropriation bills.

The gavel fell at noon with Sen. Cummins of Iowa, the president pro tempore, presiding in the senate and Speaker Gillet in the house.

OPENING BRIEF

The opening sessions were brief After prayer by the chaplain and quorum calls, the oath of office was administered to new members. Committees were named to inform President Coolidge that the congress was ready to receive communications from him and resolutions on the death of members during the recess were presented and adopted. Adjournment then was taken out of respect to the memories of departed senators and representatives.

The adjournment was until noon tomorrow, but neither house will begin work before the receipt Wednesday of President Coolidge's annual message which is to be transmitted by messenger and read in the two houses separately

The annual budget carrying the administration's recommendations for appropriations to be received by congress Thursday. Meantime however, the house appropriations committee has drafted several of the departmental supply bills and has ready the first of them—that for the interior department. Several other bills will be in the hands of the house within a few days.

The senate has a calendar fairly well crowded with general legislation of important character, but immediate action is not contemplated. The Republican steering committee will take up the order of consideration of pending subjects late this week.

On Thursday the real work of the session will begin but how much can or will be accomplished before automatic adjournment on March 4 remains a big question in the minds of all leaders alike.

Chief attention will be given to the annual appropriation bills but whether all of these can be disposed of is now by no means certain. Much general legislation is still pending and there is going to be strong pressure for consideration of a number of measures on which there is a wide difference of opinion among the membership.

NEW SORE SPOTS

But these natural differences of opinion are not the only hazards that have a place in the legislative field. The recent national political campaign has created new sores which apparently have been aggravated by the action of the senate Republicans in reading out of their councils Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and his chief senate lieutenants, Senators, Ladd, Brookhart and Frazier.

While leaders of the house Republicans have no intention now of taking like action in respect to the La Follete followers at their end of the capitol, admittedly the action of the senate Republicans has had its effect there and has served to widen the breach between the regular and insurgent Republicans so often apparent at the last session.

While some immediate aftermaths, such as protests from several leading senators are to be expected to follow the action of the Republican conference the full effect probably will be slow in developing and will be felt the more strongly as the life of the session prgorasses. One result generally looked for is the slowing up of action on legislation, in general, with a constant increase of the probabilities of an extra session of the new congress elected last month.

After the usual preliminaries of a new session have been disposed of during the first half of the week, the house will get to work on the appropriation bills taking up first that for the interior department. Meantime the Republican steering committee of the senate will map out a program for immediate senate action which may or may not find approval

REVALUATION IS COMPLETED

Notices to Be Sent Property Owners Very Soon

Completion of the revaluation of Lima real estate awaits only the mailing of notices to property owners informing them of the revised value of land and buildings for purposes of assessment.

Cards are being made out as rapidly as possible, but none will be mailed, it is announced, until all are ready. A large force of clerks is writing up cards

The final figures on railroad property inside the city limits will be gone over at a hearing before C. R. Phillips, county auditor Wednesday.

General public hearings are scheduled to start around the middle of the month. All complaints must be filed before the board of revision, composed of Auditor Phillips, Harry S Botkins county treasurer, and John W. Thompson president of the board of county commissioners. Thompson is now absent on a bear hunting trip in Pennsylvania.

MANY NOTICES

Approxmately 15 000 notices will be sent out. If half of this number files protests, the board will have its hands full disposing of cases, and will be able to give but scant consideration to any of them.

Harry E. Botkins, county treasurer, announced Monday that he cannot commence collections at all until city books are in his hands.

His force is too limited, he says, to put part on county collections while the remainder worke up receipts for the city. Endless confusion would also be caused, he declared, as some persons own both city and rural property and would have to come in to pay twice, once for the rural holdings and the second for the city.

Owing to limited office space the treasurer's force cannot be increased, even if experienced workers or funds to compensate them were available.

Simonton gave a history of message transmission from the day of the runner who carried messages by foot from the sender to the receiver up to and including today when messages are sent thousands of miles in a short time by use of the telephone.

"Bob" Deikman's orchestra played a number of popular selections before Simonton gave his talk.

FLEE HOSPITAL

Prisoners Are Taken After Leaving Strong Ward

CINCINNATI—(By Associated Press)—The freezing weather of early today did not daunt Leroy Hammond, 26, Columbus, O, and Wyatt Hunley, 16, of Wyoming, O, in their plan to exchange the warmth of the General hospital for the frigid open spaces. Lightly clad, they fled from the hospital at 5 a m, and were recaptured three hours later. They are now in the county jail.

Hammond, who is under indictment on two charges of highway robbery and one charge of attempted highway robbery and Hunley, who is accused of shooting a boy, were being held in what is called the "strong ward" in the hospital, when they slipped their shackles and eluded their guards.

Hammond was being treated for eye ailment and young Hunley was being held for mental observation.

After he was recaptured Hammond said his real name is Arthur McMasters and that he is the son of the night chief of police at Newark, O. He declared he is not blind and that he deceived the doctors at the hospital. He said he attempted to escape from the hospital because the physicians were getting ready to operate on his eyes.

New rates effective January 1, 1925.

Natural Gas Rate is Raised; Artificial is Lowered

BASED ON NEW VALUATION

Charge Will Become Effective on Jan. 1, 1925

New rate schedules for manufactured gas in Lima were filed with Ohio Public Utilities commission at Columbus Monday by the West Ohio Gas Co, the new organization formed thru merger of the various gas companies in Lima and neighboring cities served.

In a statement the management of the company said the new schedules are aimed at an adjustment of the rates in effect in the city since Lima now has a rate for artificial gas and one for natural gas and at present there is no complete service of either commodity.

The rates filed are:

For the first 400 cubic feet or less, $1.25.

For the next 24,600 cubic feet, $1.15 per thousand.

For the next 25,000 cubic feet, $1.05 per thousand.

For all over 50,000 cubic, 75 cents per thousand.

All bills due when rendered and unless paid within 10 days from date, a penalty of 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas used to be charged.

RATES ARE EXPLAINED

In explaining the new rate schedules, Frank L. Pringle, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer, said that the rates have been compiled as an equitable adjustment between the artificial and natural gas rates in effect since the city now is on a manufactured gas basis.

He explained that the artificial rate is $1.90 per thousand cubic feet with a service charge of 35 cents while the natural gas rate in effect is as follows: first 5,000 cubic feet, $1 per thousand; second 5,000 cubic feet, $1.05 per thousand; third 5,000 cubic feet, $1.10 per thousand; and all over 15,000 cubic feet, $1.15 per thousand. A minimum charge of $1.25 now is charged where bills figure less than this amount.

The rates, Pringle said, are based on the valuation of the property as set by T. D. Pierce, Ohio utilities commission engineer, and will net the company a return of 4 and ninety-six one hundredths per cent on the property as valued by him.

He said this is more than 3 per cent below the return of 8 per cent as set by the Ohio utilities commission as a fair return on invested capital.

The valuation of the property as of Sept. 30, 1924, as set by Pierce is $2,671,400. This is the combined value of the old Lima Natural Gas Co, and the Lima Gas Light Co., both of which are utilized in the service now rendered under which manufactured gas is supplied consumers.

MADE LOW RETURN

Pringle said that in 1922 the natural gas company made a return of 1 and forty-four one-hundredths per cent and in 1923 a return of 4 and eight-tenths per cent on the valuation as set by the utilities commission. He declared that the gas light property had never showed a return but that it was carried along to be used when natural gas gave out, as it did more than a year ago when a supply of only 50 per cent of the needs of the city was being received

He said that when this condition arose, the company began expanding the artificial gas plant and to date has spent approximately $250.000 on improvements which enable the company to manufacture all the gas the city requires, deliver it at an even pressure and a constant heat value.

The new rate schedules affect only Lima and what is classed as the metropolitan district, Wapakoneta, St. Marys and Celina, also served by the company, not being affected since they are receiving natural gas.

The new rates were filed as of December 1, and will become effective January 1, 1925.

Pringle said that the average domestic consumption in Lima is 4,000 cubic feet per month. The new rates will add $1 79 to the average gas bill, he said

This present natural gas rate which will be superceded by the new rates went into effect February 1, 1922, while the artificial gas rates became effective in October, 1920.

SUBMITTED TO CITY

Pringle said that the new rates had been submitted to the city commission and Manager Bingham before being filed, but that no action had been taken by the city. Bingham said Monday that the matter probably would come up at commission meeting Monday night, but did not know what turn any discussion might take. The manager said that the rate is a matter for the utilities commission to decide and that the city officials have no voice in it unless there is a public demand

EGYPT ACCEPTS DEMANDS

Report Says Agreement With Great Britain Reached

CAIRO, Egypt — (By Associated Press) — Altho not yet officially announced, it is understood authoritatively that the Egyptian government has accepted all the British demands made at the time of the assassination of Major General Sir Lee Stack.

The acceptance came after lengthy conferences yesterday. Its first immediate consequence will be the evacuation by the British of the Alexandria customs house.

The ministers of education and public works have resigned and it is expected the minister of education will follow suit.

AGREEMENT REACHED

LONDON — (By Associated Press) — Egypt has agreed to the outstanding terms previously unaccepted, which were laid down after the assassination of the sirdar, Sir Lee Stack. Messages to this effect, it is learned, from authoritative sources, have been received from Lord Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt.

The demands to which the Egyptian government at first refused to accede were that all Egyptian officers and purely Egyptian units of the Egyptian army be withdrawn from the Sudan; that an increase in irrigation be permitted in the Sudan and that opposition cease to British wishes concerning protection of foreign interests in Egypt. After the Egyptian refusal the British authorities themselves ordered the Egyptian troops to evacuate the Sudan and some of them have left)

QUIET CONTINUES

The situation both in Egypt and the Sudan continues quiet, according to the latest reports from newspaper correspondents whose dispatches imply that further trouble, in the Sudan, at any rate, is improbable.

The mutuiny of a small body of troops in the eleventh Sudanese battalion, is generally ascribed directly to the influence brought to bear on this men by their officers, acting in behalf of Egyptian propagandists.

The full extent of the casualties among the mutineers suffered during their fighting with the British, apparently will not be established until the ruins of the building in which they barricaded themselves are cleared away, but some reports indicate that only about a score lie under the debris.

NATIONS JOIN IN RESEARCH

Weather Information to Be Sent from Paris

WASHINGTON — (Special) — Radio research is one activity in which all the large countries are co-operating.

The United States, England, France, Germany and other large European nations are conducting a series of tests which would make for better radio transmission and easier reception.

The weather is the primal topic on which all countries are working together. The Eiffel Tower at Paris is the central distributing point for weather information. To it go reports from all other important countries and from it comes information to help radio progress in this field thruout the world.

England and America at present have joined hands in checking up on the accuracy of wave lengths or frequencies in transmission of all kinds. The British radio research committee has made arrangements with the U. S. Bureau of Standards to check up on transmission frequencies and interchange the information obtained.

While the United States is studying such problems as static, fading code interference and other troubles the British committee and departments of other countries are conducting practically the same research work.

In England some 300 amateurs are taking part in an investigation on fading of signals. They are also sending in reports on the nature of static encountered in their districts.

The study of atmospherics by the British scientists has brought about an expedition thru the tropics, in the Indian Ocean and Egypt. This was to learn the effects of atmospherics in various parts of the globe

Another topic of research is direction finding, as deeply studied in America as in England, France and Italy. Data on errors in modern direction-finding apparatus have been obtained, with a view of correcting the instruments.

POWER PETITION TURNED DOWN

NEW YORK—(Special)—Although divided among themselves on the matter of high-power broadcasting broadcasters of the country have turned down a request to join in a campaign against it

This request came from Joel J. Michael of the Citizens' Radio committee of New York, in which he informed the broadcasters of plans for a drive to petition Secretary Hoover against approving applications for broadcasting under power higher than exists at present

In reply, Paul J Klugh, executive chairman of the National Association of Broadcasters, says this question is too complicated for the lay listeners to decide

"Anyone who sat thru the meetings of the sub-committee discussing this question at the recent radio conference in Washington could come to no other conclusion than that the matter could and very properly should be left to the secretary of commerce, with the recommendations that the use of high power be continued upon an experimental basis," Klugh writes.

"This conclusion was reached after three days of lengthy discussion by some of the best radio minds in the country and was agreed to by both proponents and opponents of high power."

ACROSS PACIFIC

One of the Japanese radio fans who listened in to America almost regularly is N. Marumo, above, who is in charge of the electro-technical laboratory's experiment station at Hiraiso, 500 miles from Tokyo. He is shown with the super-hetrodyne receiver with which he heard KGO at Oakland, Calif.

RADIO BIG AID IN POLITICS

Presidential Campaign Reviewed by Judge Davis

WASHINGTON — (Special) — "Radio intimacy."

That's the name given by Judge S. B. Davis, head of commerce department radio activities, to the new kind of acquaintanceship formed by listeners-in with the great and near-great these days.

He explains—

"This phase of radio, which has been developing for several years, came out fully during the presidential campaign.

"The people actually knew their candidates—by ear. They became not only familiar with their politics and policies, but came to know them personally thru their voices

"This radio intimacy, brought out by the election, is now a factor in all listening-in Suppose a man tells of his experiences in exploring the arctic. His radio audience not only learns of the experiences, but becomes personally acquainted with the man who had them.

"The election also brought out the fact that radio is really coming into its own.

"Just how many sets there are in the country is impossible to estimate accurately. The most conservative guess runs around five million.

Consider that several people listen in on almost every set and you can form some idea of what this means. Millions thruout the country were familiarizing themselves with the various campaign issues in their own homes.

"On election night the downtown crowds listening to the returns were as nothing compared to the crowds of former years. People with radio sets didn't have to come downtown."

Dr. J. J. Sutter, Allen-co health commissioner will be the principal speaker at the "Sex Hygiene" program to be staged Tuesday night at the Bluffton high school auditorium. This is to be given under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A.

JAPS HEAR U. S. PROGRAMS

Radio Stations Send Music Over Pacific Ocean

SAN FRANCISCO — (Special) Getting Pacific Coast broadcasting stations is the latest radio game in the orient.

Checkup on the recent international test broadcast from KGO, Oakland, Calif., shows the complete two-hour broadcast was successfully heard in Japan, 5000 miles away. But not being versed in what they term "American English," the Japanese fans were unable to report back the speech and name the music played.

This is the first time a complete program has been sent from America to Japan.

"Punctually at 6 p. m., Japan time, the radiophone from KGO began to be heard loudly and distinctly and continued for two hours," says a letter from Eitaro Yokoyama, Japanese minister of communications.

"The hearers were so surprised at the unexpected loudness of the phone that they could not believe their ears. The speech, easy American English, and music were the clearest ever heard in this country."

Operators of the Electro-Technical Laboratory's experiment station at Hiraiso successfully picked up the entire international test with a super-hetrodyne receiver. Hiraiso is 500 miles northeast of Tokyo, and commands the Pacific Ocean.

Enthusiastic over this success, the Japanese ministry of communications is requesting other broadcasts of the type.

LEIPSIC WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS

FUMES FROM STOVE KILL MAN, WIFE

Double Tragedy Results from Defective Flue

NEIGHBORS FIND PAIR

Secret Pact Prevents Their Being Buried Together

LEIPSIC — (Special) — Carbon monoxide gas claimed its second victim here early Monday when Mrs. David Ash failed to rally from the effects of the fumes and died.

Her husband was the first fatality, his dead body having been found at the head of the stairs in their home here early Saturday by neighbors who became alarmed when the Ashs did not appear as usual.

A defective flue and an open door in the hard coal stove are held responsible for the tragedy. It is believed Ash detected the slight odor of the gas and tried to gain the downstairs in order to shut the door. He was stricken at the head of the stairs and his wife was overcome while in bed.

NEVER CONSCIOUS

Mrs. Ash never regained consciousness and her heart became steadily weaker. She died at 11:30 a. m. Monday following a relapse. It had been reported Sunday evening that she had a fighting chance to recover if her heart strengthened.

A secret pact, never before revealed, will prevent the burial of Mr and Mrs. Ash side by side in the same grave. Friends had planned a double funeral and burial together in case Mrs. Ash should die

In accordance with the pact, made at the time of their marriage, Ash will be buried beside his first wife in Christ cemetery, near this village and Mrs. Ash will be buried beside that of her first husband, Wesley Young, in Harmon cemetery, east of Ottawa near Gilboa.

Funeral for Ash were held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Methodist church in Leipsic. Rev. R. C. Moon officiated.

Services for Mrs. Ash will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m., at the Methodist church with Rev. Moon officiating.

APPEALS BOARD TO BE NAMED

Members to Settle Grievances in Zoning Code

Appointment of an appeals board to act as a court in settlement of grievances in enforcement of the new zoning ordinance in the city will be completed Monday night by city commission.

The board of five, composed of persons acquainted with real estate construction, will have jurisdiction in the settlement of any grievances in the location of buildings in certain district outlined under the zoning ordinance.

The zoning code in the establishment of a residential, business and manufacturing district in the city, provides for the restriction of manufacturing establishments or business buildings in residential districts and tends to protect property valuation in residential sections

The board of appeals under the terms of the ordinance is to meet at least once each month or at any other time necessary to review any complaints placed before the board by property owners. A majority vote of the board is necessary for amendments

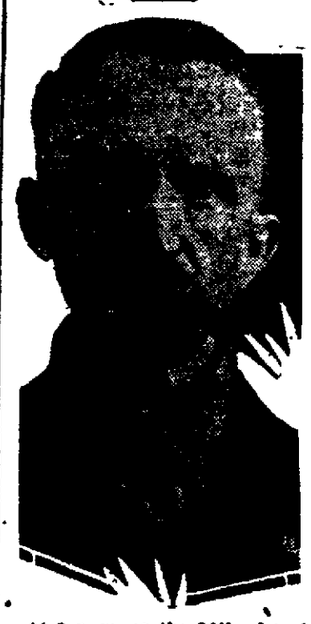

While commissioners have not decided on any persons to serve on the board, a number of names will be presented Monday night by City Manager C. A. Bingham for consideration of the commission.

BUILDING CONSUMED

MONTPILIER, Ohio — More than $150,000 loss was caused late Sunday night by fire in the Louden apartment store here which destroyed the homes of five families living in the block and damaged the A. J. Brown furniture store

Fire departments from Bryan and Pioneer were called, but they were unable to check the blaze. The ruins were still smoldering this morning.

He must make four more of these monthly trips to the jail.

CHRISTIAN LIFE WAS HELP

Pastor Addresses Students on Furnace Mystery

PRAISES PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Thanks Friends for Show of Confidence

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Addressing a mass meeting of students and the faculty of Capital University here today, Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church, whose wife's body was found practically cremated in the furnace of their Bexley home, declared "we could never have cleared our skirts of the suspicion of the foulest of crimes if our family, by the grace of God, had not been living as becometh Christians."

SUSPICION AROUSED

"It required public servants of cool head and steady nerves and with a high resolve to do their sworn duty to ferret out the truth," he said. "The excited populace was astir. Suspicion was aroused. The voice of the slanderer was heard. It has been of inestimable value to us that the civil authorities having the tragic case in hand are men who have made every possible effort to faithfully discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their knowledge and ability.

"They have worked untiringly that culprits, if any, might be brought to justice and that the innocent might be protected and their good name preserved."

Rev. Mr. Sheatsley's address was made to announce to the university student body and faculty members that he would resume teaching classes at the institution tomorrow.

"It may take me some little time to settle down to strenuous work" he said.

"As I look into your faces there comes to me, first of all, the thought of the mighty stream of assurance and sympathy which you poured in upon our souls in the hour of tragedy and grief. My children join me in extending our sincerest gratitude to all of you and for your many messages of sympathy, floral tributes and countless acts of kindness and good will; and we trust that as opportunity offers we may in some small measure requite you for the great services rendered."

After telling of the purpose of the university to inspire "a Christian walk and conversation" Rev. Mr. Sheatsley said:

CHRISTIANITY PRACTICE

"And, remember, too, the Christian life is eminently practical. It is not just some theoretical ideal, noble indeed in its way but impossible of attainment. Day by day it helps you keep your head and your heart; it helps you to be a friend and companion; and in the hour of gloom, doubt or seeming despair, it serves as a strong anchor for the troubled soul. It is significant that among the hundreds of letters of love and sympathy which we received, only those which pointed to the Christian's

King Winter Expected To Loosen Grip

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press)—Wilmington, O., was coldest spot in the United States early today, Assistant United States Weatherman Kirk said this morning. The mercury dropped to three degrees above zero. The cold wave which covered all of Ohio was accompanied by a statewide snowfall reported to be five inches in some places. One death has been reported from exposure.

Cloudy weather predicted for tomorrow is expected to break the cold spell.

Other communities reporting low temperatures in the state were Washington C. H., 3-6; Columbus 9; Cincinnati 12; Wooster 12; Toledo 14. The region along Lake Erie was reported to be cloudy and the temperature fell to but 24 at Cleveland.

Reports of automobiles skidding and crashing into telephone posts and other automobiles were numerous from all over the state, due to the slippery conditions of the streets.

Warren reported the greatest amount of snowfall, five inches. A blanket of snow two inches deep covered most of the counties in Ohio.

19 FACE COURT MONDAY

Three Persons Fined for Violation of Traffic Law

Nineteen traffic violators faced Judge Neal Poling in Criminal court Monday morning and entered pleas of guilty to charges of overrunning "stop" signs, wrong parking and driving automobiles on license tags issued in other states.

Three violators paid fines for failing to stop, and 16, most of whom were out-of-town motorists, were dismissed with warnings.

Following the ultimatum issued late Saturday by Chief Lanker, warning motorists to drive with dimmed lights within the city, very few violations were noted and not one arrest was made, according to police records.

WARNING HEEDED

A survey taken Sunday evening showed the warning was being heeded, Lanker said Monday. Police vigilance will be maintained, however, and the dimming law will be strictly enforced, the chief said

Those who paid fines Monday were: H. C. Waitman, of 512 W. Spring-st. C. W. Counsellor, of 865 W. Elm-st and C. H. Barr, of 310 S. Scott-st. Otis Dotson, of 734 S Main-st, pleaded not guilty to overrunning a sign and will receive a hearing Tuesday afternoon.

The following, who entered guilty pleas to parking wrong in the Public-sq and to driving with foreign license tags, were dismissed:

Lester Spyker, Cridersville; E. DeVoe, 1009 Leland-av; F. Allen, Ada, B. C. Frysinger, 974 Leland-av; Floyd Maies, 1102 1-2 St John's-av; Dave Reinhart, 942 N. West-st; C. E. Xanders, 633 W. Spring-st; M. B. Busic, 463 S Pine-st.

DRIVE SLOW

Slow driving of automobiles on city streets coated with ice is urged by Chief Lanker to reduce the number of accidents at street intersections

While speed of 25 miles an hour is permissible under the existing traffic law in the residential section, Lanker believes this rate of speed should be reduced during winter months because motorists are unable to completely control their machines on snow and ice coated pavements.

Compliance with the "stop" legislation at street intersections is to be demanded by Lanker who states that this measure is a great safety aid and in obeying the law motorists will be compelled to drive slow between "stops" or else have their machine skid over the lines.

BODY ADJOURNS AFTER BRIEF SESSION

Mark of Respect Shown to Departed Members

MESSAGE IS AWAITED

Republican Side Has Many New Sore Spots

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The sixty-eighth congress assembled today for its farewell session with little prospect for the transaction of any important business beyond passage of the annual appropriation bills.

The gavel fell at noon with Sen. Cummins of Iowa, the president pro tempore, presiding in the senate and Speaker Gillet in the house.

OPENING BRIEF

The opening sessions were brief. After prayer by the chaplain and quorum calls, the oath of office was administered to new members. Committees were named to inform President Coolidge that the congress was ready to receive communications from him and resolutions on the death of members during the recess were presented and adopted. Adjournment then was taken out of respect to the memories of departed senators and representatives.

The adjournment was until noon tomorrow, but neither house will begin work before the receipt Wednesday of President Coolidge's annual message which is to be transmitted by messenger and read in the two houses separately.

The annual budget carrying the administration's recommendations for appropriations to be received by congress Thursday. Meantime however, the house appropriations committee has drafted several of the departmental supply bills and has ready the first of them—that for the interior department. Several other bills will be in the hands of the house within a few days.

The senate has a calendar fairly well crowded with general legislation of important character, but immediate action is not contemplated. The Republican steering committee will take up the order of consideration of pending subjects late this week.

On Thursday the real work of the session will begin but how much can or will be accomplished before automatic adjournment on March 4 remains a big question in the minds of all leaders alike.

Chief attention will be given to the annual appropriation bills but whether all of these can be disposed of is now by no means certain. Much general legislation is still pending and there is going to be strong pressure for consideration of a number of measures on which there is a wide difference of opinion among the membership.

NEW SORE SPOTS

But these natural differences of opinion are not the only hazards that have a place in the legislative field. The recent national political campaign has created new sores which apparently have been aggravated by the action of the senate Republicans in reading out of their councils Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and his chief senate lieutenants, Senators. Ladd, Brookhart and Frazier.

While leaders of the house Republicans have no intention now of taking like action in respect to the La Follete followers at their end of the capitol, admittedly the action of the senate Republicans has had its effect there and has served to widen the breach between the regular and insurgent Republicans so often apparent at the last session.

While some immediate aftermaths, such as protests from several leading senators are to be expected to follow the action of the Republican conference the full effect probably will be slow in developing and will be felt the more strongly as the life of the session prgoresses. One result generally looked for is the slowing up of action on legislation, in general, with a constant increase of the probabilities of an extra session of the new congress elected last month.

After the usual preliminaries of a new session have been disposed of during the first half of the week, the house will get to work on the appropriation bills taking up first that for the interior department. Meantime the Republican steering committee of the senate will map out a program for immediate senate action which may or may not find approval

FLEES FROM PUBLICITY

Mrs. R. E. L. Knight Jr., prominent young society matron of Dallas, Tex., applied for a part with a stock company in Houston under the name of "Margaret Wilson." She made such a hit that newspaper reporters got curious and found out who the young actress really was. Then Mrs. Knight fled back to Dallas.

REVALUATION IS COMPLETED

Notices to Be Sent Property Owners Very Soon

Completion of the revaluation of Lima real estate awaits only the mailing of notices to property owners informing them of the revised value of land and buildings for purposes of assessment.

Cards are being made out as rapidly as possible, but none will be mailed, it is announced, until all are ready. A large force of clerks is writing up cards

The final figures on railroad property inside the city limits will be gone over at a hearing before C. R. Phillips, county auditor Wednesday.

General public hearings are scheduled to start around the middle of the month. All complaints must be filed before the board of revision, composed of Auditor Phillips, Harry S Botkins county treasurer, and John W Thompson president of the board of county commissioners. Thompson is now absent on a bear hunting trip in Pennsylvania.

MANY NOTICES

Approximately 15,000 notices will be sent out. If half of this number files protests, the board will have its hands full disposing of cases, and will be able to give but scant consideration to any of them.

Harry E. Botkins, county treasurer, announced Monday that he cannot commence collections at all until city books are in his hands.

His force is too limited, he says, to put part on county collections while the remainder works up receipts for the city. Endless confusion would also be caused, he declared, as some persons own both city and rural property, and would have to come in to pay twice, once for the rural holdings and the second for the city.

Owing to limited office space the treasurer's force cannot be increased, even if experienced workers or funds to compensate them were available.

TALK ON TELEPHONE IS HEARD BY ROTARIANS

"The Transmission of Intelligence and the Story of the Telephone" was the subject of an educational talk given before the Lima Rotary club Monday noon at Hotel Norval by H. E. Simonton of the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Simonton gave a history of message transmission from the day of the runner who carried messages by foot from the sender to the receiver up to and including today when messages are sent thousands of miles in a short time by use of the telephone.

"Bob" Deikman's orchestra played a number of popular selections before Simonton gave his talk.

FLEE HOSPITAL

Prisoners Are Taken After Leaving Strong Ward

CINCINNATI—(By Associated Press)—The freezing weather of early today did not daunt Leroy Hammond, 26, Columbus, O., and Wyatt Hunley, 16, of Wyoming, O., in their plan to exchange the warmth of the General hospital for the frigid open spaces. Lightly clad, they fled from the hospital at 5 a. m., and were recaptured three hours later. They are now in the county jail.

Hammond, who is under indictment on two charges of highway robbery and one charge of attempted highway robbery and Hunley, who is accused of shooting a boy, were being held in what is called the "strong ward" in the hospital, when they slipped their shackles and eluded their guards.

Hammond was being treated for eye ailment and young Hunley was being held for mental observation.

After he was recaptured Hammond said his real name is Arthur McMasters and that he is the son of the night chief of police at Newark, O. He declared he is not blind and that he deceived the doctors at the hospital. He said he attempted to escape from the hospital because the physicians were getting ready to operate on his eyes.

EGYPT ACCEPTS DEMANDS

Report Says Agreement With Great Britain Reached

CAIRO, Egypt — (By Associated Press) — Altho not yet officially announced, it is understood authoritatively that the Egyptian government has accepted all the British demands made at the time of the assassination of Major General Sir Lee Stack.

The acceptance came after lengthy conferences yesterday. Its first immediate consequence will be the evacuation by the British of the Alexandria customs house.

The ministers of education and public works have resigned and it is expected the minister of education will follow suit.

AGREEMENT REACHED

LONDON — (By Associated Press) — Egypt has agreed to the outstanding terms previously unaccepted, which were laid down after the assassination of the sirdar, Sir Lee Stack. Messages to this effect, it is learned, from authoritative sources, have been received from Lord Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt.

The demands to which the Egyptian government at first refused to accede were that all Egyptian officers and purely Egyptian units of the Egyptian army be withdrawn from the Sudan; that an increase in irrigation be permitted in the Sudan and that opposition cease to British wishes concerning protection of foreign interests in Egypt. After the Egyptian refusal the British authorities themselves ordered the Egyptian troops to evacuate the Sudan and some of them have left.)

QUIET CONTINUES

The situation both in Egypt and the Sudan continues quiet, according to the latest reports from newspaper correspondent whose dispatches imply that further trouble, in the Sudan, at any rate, is improbable.

The mutuiny of a small body of troops in the eleventh Sudanese battalion, is generally ascribed directly to the influence brought to bear on this men by their officers, acting in behalf of Egyptian propagandists.

The full extent of the casualties among the mutineers suffered during their fighting with the British, apparently will not be established until the ruins of the building in which they barricaded themselves are cleared away, but some reports indicate that only about a score lie under the debris.

BASED ON NEW VALUATION

Charge Will Become Effective on Jan. 1, 1925

New rate schedules for manufactured gas in Lima were filed with Ohio Public Utilities commission at Columbus Monday by the West Ohio Gas Co., the new organization formed thru merger of the various gas companies in Lima and neighboring cities served.

In a statement the management of the company said the new schedules are aimed at an adjustment of the rates in effect in the city since Lima now has a rate for artificial gas and one for natural gas and at present there is no complete service of either commodity.

The rates filed are:

For the first 400 cubic feet or less, $1.25.

For the next 24,600 cubic feet, $1.15 per thousand.

For the next 25,000 cubic feet, $1.05 per thousand.

For all over 50,000 cubic, 75 cents per thousand.

All bills due when rendered and unless paid within 10 days from date, a penalty of 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas used to be charged.

RATES ARE EXPLAINED

In explaining the new rate schedules, Frank L. Pringle, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer, said that the rates have been compiled as an equitable adjustment between the artificial and natural gas rates in effect since the city now is on a manufactured gas basis.

He explained that the artificial rate is $1.00 per thousand cubic feet with a service charge of 35 cents while the natural gas rate in effect is as follows: first 5,000 cubic feet, $1 per thousand; second 5,000 cubic feet, $1.05 per thousand; third 5,000 cubic feet, $1.10 per thousand; and all over 15,000 cubic feet, $1.15 per thousand. A minimum charge of $1.25 now is charged where bills figure less than this amount.

The rates, Pringle said, are based on the valuation of the property as set by T. D. Pierce, Ohio utilities commission engineer, and will net the company a return of 4 and ninety-six one hundredths per cent on the property as valued by him.

He said this is more than 3 per cent below the return of 8 per cent as set by the Ohio utilities commission as a fair return on invested capital.

The valuation of the property as of Sept. 30, 1924, as set by Pierce is $2,671,400. This is the combined value of the old Lima Natural Gas Co., and the Lima Gas Light Co., both of which are utilized in the service now rendered under which manufactured gas is supplied consumers.

MADE LOW RETURN

Pringle said that in 1922 the natural gas company made a return of 1 and forty-four one-hundredths per cent and in 1923 a return of 4 and eight-tenths per cent on the valuation as set by the utilities commission. He declared that the gas light property had never showed a return but that it was carried along to be used when natural gas gave out, as it did more than a year ago when a supply of only 50 per cent of the needs of the city was being received

He said that when this condition arose, the company began expanding the artificial gas plant and to date has spent approximately $250,000 on improvements which enable the company to manufacture all the gas the city requires, deliver it at an even pressure and a constant heat value.

The new rate schedules affect only Lima and what is classed as the metropolitan district, Wapakoneta, St. Marys and Celina, also served by the company, not being affected since they are receiving natural gas

The new rates were filed as of December 1, and will become effective January 1, 1925.

Pringle said that the average domestic consumption in Lima is 4,000 cubic feet per month. The new rates will add $1.39 to the average gas bill, he said.

This present natural gas rate which will be superceded by the new rates went into effect February 1, 1922, while the artificial gas rates became effective in October, 1920

SUBMITTED TO CITY

Pringle said that the new rates had been submitted to the city commission and Manager Bingham before being filed, but that no action had been taken by the city. Bingham said Monday that the matter probably would come up at commission meeting Monday night, but did not know what turn any discussion might take. The manager said that the rate is a matter for the utilities commission to decide and that the city officials have no voice in it unless there is a public demand

Are Criminals Worth Saving?

DARROW ANSWERS QUESTION

CHICAGO — (Special) — Society has no right to condemn a man to death.

For the preservation of the race, is for nothin geise, the state should not deliberately destroy life.

So declares Clarence S. Darrow, internationally famous criminal attorney, whose master pleading has aided more than 100 murderers to cheat death at the hangman's hands.

In an exclusive interview with NEA service for The Lima News, Darrow for the first time reveals the workings of his mind in explaining why he has come to the rescue of so many criminals marked for the gallows.

Answering the question: "Are criminals worth saving?" Darrow says:

"It is first necessary to find out what is meant by the word 'criminal.' Whether it means some person who has some anti-social instinct, or one who has been convicted of a crime.

"Everyone has both social and anti-social instincts, and it is only a question of degree as to the extreme each way.

"As for conviction of a crime, there are all sorts of crimes. Convictions run from a dollar fine to death. Many are convicted who are not guilty, so it would be impossible to answer the question from this standpoint.

"But if the question should be —Are there not criminals who are not worth saving?—then the question should be asked: Worth saving to whom?

"There are an infinite number of people who are not worth saving, so far as the community is concerned. In fact, many who are called good people are very injurious to the community.

"Perhaps there are very few people whose death would make any difference to the community, and in that sense, they would not be worth saving. But, the only admissible question is: 'Are they worth saving to themselves?'

"We live because we want to live, regardless of whether we are doing any good to others or not, and it would be very hard to pass and execute a law that only those who do good to others should live.

"Many men, probably most men, prefer to live inside a prison than to die. And their wishes should be consulted and that of their friends.

"It would be dangerous to consult only the wishes of the community. In that case no one's life would be safe.

"Quite apart from all this, nature in the development of the individual, has created imagination which gives him a certain amount of sympathy and pity. To destroy this by brutality of any sort would mean the destruction of the best part of man. And harsh and cruel punishment always have a tendency to destroy the highest emotions of man.

"Many on trial for a capital offense say they prefer to die rather than live out their lives in prison. Perhaps they feel so at the time. But if live prisoners were given free access to guns, poison and had good health, most of them would die of old age.

CLARENCE DARROW

"Every organism, whether it is human, animal, religious, social or political, has the will to live. Otherwise life would not persist."

Pausing to comment on the trust estate which the father of slain Bobbie Franks has created to defeat any attempt to liberate Nathan F. Leopold Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, his son's slayers, Darrow says:

"I would say that Franks and his fund will both be in oblivion before any effort will be made to release Loeb or Leopold. If the time ever comes that the public considers that they are safe to be at large and they have been in prison long enough, the public, thru their officials, will, no doubt act, no matter who opposes it.

"Very seldom a case comes before the pardon board that somebody does not oppose the release, and yet the law makes it obligatory that after a certain length of time, prisoners in general must be paroled, if fit for parole, and about 90 per cent make good after release. Of course in murder cases there are very few who are released before serving 20 years."

CONGRESS OPENS SESSION

with the Democrats and insurgents which will continue to hold the whip hand.

The senate has a large amount of legislation pending on its calendar, including the deficiency bill, the Muscle Shoals project and railroad and farm legislation. Generally speaking farm aid is regarded as the most important of all the subjects, but since the president has appointed a commission which is engaging in a study of this whole field it is likely that a decision as to the form of this legislation is to take will await the report of that commission.

MUSCLE SHOALS

With Henry Ford out of the field and several new bids in hand, the Muscle Shoals question very likely will be sent back to the senate agriculture commission for further consideration. There is going to be renewed pressure to dispose of this matter but many leaders believe it will be one of the many problems which will be left to the new congress.

Altho this is a hold-over congress a number of new faces will be seen on the floors of the two houses and there will be important changes in the standing committee particularly in the senate.

New senate committee chairmen will include William E. Borah at the head of the foreign relations committee in place of the late Senator Lodge and Senator Cummins of Iowa as head of the judiciary committee of which the late Senator Brandegee of Connecticut was the chairman.

The Republican organization in the senate has a new head in Senator Curtis of Kansas, former party "whip" who succeeds Senator Lodge. Senator Watson of Indiana is the assistant leader in place of Senator Curtis. There also will be a new party "whip" whose sellection has been left to Senator Curtis.

President Coolidge intends to delay transmission to congress of the budget for the next fiscal year and its accompanying message until after presentation of his annual message which is to be sent to the capitol and read in both houses Wednesday. The budget message probably will be submitted Thursday. Mr. Coolidge regards the budget message as an elaboration on his annual message and as such desires it to follow the document presenting his general recommendations to congress.

There was the usual crowded galleries. Mrs. Coolidge and a party of guests occupied the president's row in the senate galleries.

The senate's opening session consumed twenty minutes.

Formally announcing the death of Senator Lodge, Republican leader, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, his colleague, said Mr. Lodge had been for years the foremost figure in the dominant political party of Massachusetts and in recent years one of, if not indeed the foremost figure in the congress of the United States.

WHEELER SAFE

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—There is to be no effort at this time to formally read Sen. Wheeler of Montana out of the Democratic party. Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, so announced today in response to inquiries whether senate Democrats would follow the lead of the Republicans who have excluded from party councils Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin with whom Senator Wheeler was associated on the independent presidential ticket.

BREAKFAST CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—President Coolidge had a breakfast conference today with more than a dozen leaders in the senate, representative of the several groups on the Republican side. Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of those identified with the La Follette bloc, was present.

Others were Senators Curtis of Kansas, the newly elected majority leader; Borah of Idaho who is to become chairman of the foreign relations committee; Moses of New Hampshire; Wadsworth, New York; Hale, Maine; Jones, Washington; Sterling, South Dakota; Warren, Wyoming; Spencer, Missouri; McLean, Connecticut; Watson, Indiana; Smoot, Utah and Cummins, Iowa.

All of these senators are chairmen of the more important of the senate committees, including finance, military, naval, commerce, appropriations, banking and postoffice.

The conference was devoted to discussion of the legislative program with no definite conclusions attempted. It was the first of a series of breakfast conferences planned by Mr. Coolidge and arrangements were made for another meeting with another group of senators tomorrow.

House leaders later are to be invited to the White House for similar discussions.

WASHINGTON — (By United Press)—Here is what the leaders say about their session of congress convening today:

Senator Charles E. Curtiss, Republican: "We have a big program, but we will do well if we only succeed in passing the necessary appropriation bills for the next fiscal year. We have seven agricultural bills of importance, which probably will not be considered until some recommendation comes from the president's agricultural committee, considering methods for relief. We have ten other important measures on the calendar including the Pepper world court resolution, a bill for departmental reorganization, construction of public buildings and settling contested elections in the senate."

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democrat: "We will cooperate with the majority in adopting necessary appropriation bills. There seems an increasing disposition for settlement of the Muscle Shoals question and that may be considered. The bill for repeal of the Pullman sur-charge remains to be passed. There are many bills for revision of railroad rates and for relief of agriculture which must be considered."

FARM LEGISLATION

Senator George W. Norris, Republican leader of the Mid-West Farm Bloc: "Farm relief legislation must be considered, but I doubt if it will be disposed of. I hope the question as to government operation of Muscle Shoals will be passed upon. It certainly has waited long enough."

Chairman Reed Smoot of the senate finance committee, a leader of congress in financial matters: "This must be a business and not a political session. There must be no pork barrels and economy must be practiced to the greatest possible degree.

"Then when we come to the end of our fiscal year the last of June we will find a surplus big enough to enable us to go to work upon a further reduction of taxes. I believe an extra session of congress will then be called, probably in September, to provide a complete reduction of taxes all along the line on a sound economic basis unlike the present law."

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — Sen. Wesley Jones, of Washington, was appointed Republican whip today by Sen. Charles E. Curtis, new Republican leader.

Jones replaces Curtis, who was elected to the leadership vacancy left by death of Henry Cabot Lodge. He has been in the senate since 1909 and has taken an active part in the workings of the Republican party.

WASHINGTON—The petition of the government to take up the question of whether a tax payer in computing his income tax, may deduct the difference between what he actually paid for property acquired before March 1, 1913 and what he sold it for at a loss after the revenue act of 1918 became operative, or whether he may only deduct the difference between the adjudged fair value when purchased and the selling price, was granted by the supreme court today.

Referring again to the officials who have handled the investigation of the finding of his wife's body, the Rev Sheatsley said:

"Young men and women! Take a lively interest in the affairs of government for 'the powers that be are ordained of God' and a Christian cannot successfull sidestep his duty in this matter. Disaster will be the inevitable result."

CONSTITUTION IS NOT SACRED

German President Little Considered in Affairs

MONARCHY WAS DOOMED

Nationalists Abandon Ruler After His Turn

By MAXIMILIAN HARDEN

BERLIN — (Special) — Germany in the last six years has had a republican constitution, but it does not yet comprehend the duty of holding it sacred. Only this week Chancellor Marx declared that it was incomprehensible that President Ebert should be drawn into the election, saying that such a maneuver was inconceivable in any other country.

Mark Twain who said the chief advantage of a democracy was in being able to call the president a donkey without being punished would laugh in his tomb while Woodrow Wilson would smile bitterly and President Coolidge and former Presidents Millerand and Obregon could prove the contrary by their own experience.

EBERT FORGOTTEN

What should be astonishing is not that an occasional stray shot hits President Ebert, but that this powerful official is almost never mentioned or is utterly forgotten. This proves that he is what the Americans call "old stuff."

This modest Socialist burns today what he worshipped yesterday and he will worship tomorrow what he burned yesterday. He is the son of the Catholic beadle of Heidelberg University, but he never went beyond the public school and after practicing the trade of saddlery he became editor of a provincial Socialist paper and later ran a sailor's lodging house at Bremerhaven and organized strikes. He was elected to parliament as a social Democrat and when the German army collapsed in 1918 the imperial government seized upon him as a make shift.

Wilhelm saw what kind of a man he was and said

"I shall be happy to work with Herr Ebert."

But Ebert was too late to save the monarchy and after the pseudo revolution which he vainly tried to prevent he became the people's commissary and in 1919 the national assembly elected him provisional president. According to the constitution, the people must elect a permanent president.

NO ELECTION

But the election was never held. New laws were substituted and Ebert remained president, altho he was never popularly elected. He was given one of the most lordly palaces in Berlin and a small staff of courtiers taught him and his wife how to behave in society, how to move, receive visitors, pronounce foreign words, wear a top hat, evening dress and furs and offer liquors and cigars with a smile. Six years is a long apprenticeship. The fat Ebert now motors and hunts (some as quite in the kaiser's style) and he has become a pious Catholic, altho he was formerly dissident.

Not the slightest trace of social democratism remains. Ebert no longer comes in direct contact with workmen, tho enlightened monarchs do, and as early as 1919 he greeted the returning troops as "our undefeated army." He punished strikes, press indiscretions and small revolutionary plots with dictatorial harshness and thus he became a firm supporter of nationalist reaction.

SOMETIMES FLATTERED

Like his predecessor, Imperial Kaiser, Ebert is sometimes flattered abroad even by Americans. But workmen hate a turncoat and the nationalists have abandoned him because he refused to take them into the government, and, as he knows, he will not get a majority at next summer's election he has refused to run.

Germany whether a monarchy or a republic will always have its lobs to give away, so Herr Ebert with inborn cuteness, will take any steps which might improve his career.

Who can say what will happen to him. It is sufficient to know that during his six years as a republican president he has acted in such a way that any future kaiser would be delighted to fill the position of chancellor.

HOLT FAILS TO CERTIFY

Connecticut Democrats May Be Without Candidate

HARTFORD, Conn.—(By Associated Press) — Certificate of nomination by the Democratic state convention of Hamilton Holt, of Woodstock, as the Democratic nominee for United States senator, to succeed the late Senator Brandegee, has not been filed with the secretary of state in accordance with the statutes, it became known today. Friday at midnight was the final hour for the filing of certificates. So far as the state secretary's office is concerned officially, the Democrats have not nominated a candidate for United States senator, and unless some provision is made to meet the situation, Holt's name will not appear on the ballot.

The absence of the certificate has caused considerable comment in political circles thruout the state. It is held by the Republican leaders that it would be possible for one Republican vote to be cast on December 16 for Hiram Bingham, and that he could be declared elected United States senator because of the neglect of the Democrats to file a certificate to the state secretary's office.

Among Republican leaders, however, there seems to be a disposition to get the state officials to waive the requirements of the state law so that Mr. Holt's certificate may be filed.

Hiram Bingham, the Republican nominee tonight said:

"On no account will I take advantage of the failure to file Mr. Holt's certificate of nomination and I will do all in my power to see to it that Mr. Holt does not suffer thru the failure of his party to comply with the statutes."

COUNTY HOME RULE BILL TO BE FRAMED

CLEVELAND — A county committee to draft a county home rule bill to the Ohio legislature will be appointed by the Citizens' League officials of that organization announced today. The purpose of the committee, which will be composed of representatives from Cleveland and all its suburbs will be to amalgamate the sentiment into one proposal which will represent that of Cuyahoga-co.

The committee will have before it all of the suggestions made in the last six or eight years when similar movements have been attempted.

A bill which is expected to provide for all suburbs maintaining their autonomy but cooperating in a big way in the most vital matters of country-wide development is expected to result.

Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Youngstown, Akron and Canton are finding duplication of governmental machinery a problem and are reported to be working on proposals in the hope of remedying the situation.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m., at the South Side Church of Christ, Rev. W. H. Baker will officiate. Burial will be in Woodawn cemetery.

ARMY NURSE DIES

NEWARK — Mrs. Lillian K. Embleton, 66, former army nurse, wife of Joseph H. Embleton, retired army man, both former residents of Columbus, died in a hospital here this morning of anemia. They had made their home at Buckeye Lake for three years. The body will be taken to Columbus this morning for funeral and burial. EXPECT INSANITY

WHEATON, Ill. — John Krammerer, an eccentric waiter, was placed on trial here today before Judge John K. Newhall for the killing of five persons. SHE WAITS

HOUSTON, Tex. — (Special)— Dr. George E. Cook has been taken back to Florida to serve out his time.

And Anna Grant McCarthy, who met him while he was a fugitive from justice, says she is going to wait for him.

Dr. Cook (he says that is not his real name) is a graduate of the University of Illinois. Nine years he practiced in a little Florida town.

A patient, who owed him a bill, proposed the doctor should fix up papers showing land the man owned, tho heavily mortgaged, was clear of debt, so he could sell it, pay the mortgage and pay Cook.

The pair double-crossed Cook and skipped out with the money, Cook filed, too.

In Los Angeles he was arrested again, but released thru a jailer's mistake. Then they got him in Arizona and returned him to Florida. Soon after starting a two-year sentence he succeeded in escaping.

After working in Houston and Galveston, he shipped out as a mess boy on a tramp steamer, fell ill and was left at Le Havre, France. The American consul paid his fare back to the United States.

Apprehended in Pittsburg, he was sent back to Florida again, only to escape from a prison camp at the very time train-wreck victims he had attended one night were about to obtain a pardon for him.

Wandering around thru the southwest, he met Mrs. McCarthy. Then the law got him once more.

CHINESE TRIALS STARTED

Men Charged With Attempted Extortion Face Courts

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — Taking of testimony in the case of seven Chinese charged with attempted extortion of property valued at more than $70,000 from Wong Sing, was expected to be started in common pleas court here today. A jury was selected Wednesday when court was adjourned until today.

In the meantime, Yim Fong, one of those under trial, and Charles Yee, secretary of the local On Leong Tong, went to New York, accompanied by Detective William Gneuhs, to testify against Chin Jack Lem, alleged leader in the Tong war in a habeas corpus action Lem brought to prevent his return to Cleveland to face the extortion charge.

Detective Gneuhs is the only one of twenty witnesses summoned to testify who can speak English. The others are Chinese, whose testimony will be translated by two interpreters, one selected by the state and the other by the defense.

It was this case which precipitated the Tong war which resulted in more than a score of deaths, according to Assistant County Prosecutor James T. Cassidy.

THEFT ATTEMPT

Burglars Hear Janitor; Flee from N. Main-st Store

An attempt to burglarize the Gordon Ladies' Ready-to-Wear store, 225 N. Main-st, Sunday afternoon, failed when the would-be burglars heard the janitor moving about in the building and fled.

Eugene Miller, caretaker and janitor, was working in the store about 4 p. m. when he heard someone at the rear door. When he reached the door he found the screen had been removed and an attempt had been made to jimmy the door.

He phoned police headquarters and several officers were detached to investigate the report. They were unable to locate the guilty parties.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. adv

The Lima News

AND TIMES DEMOCRAT

Published every afternoon except Sunday in The Lima News Building, 121 E. High-st, Lima, Ohio Entered at the Lima, O. postoffice as second class mail matter.

EARL R. LEACH, Managing Editor. By Mail one year, $6.00. City Carrier, 15c a week.

A Good Idea

Considerable favorable comment has been heard concerning the proposal of Lima merchants to decorate the downtown section of the city with hundreds of small Christmas trees during the pre-holiday shopping season. We believe the plan would result in a great deal of good since it would help spread the Christmas spirit in a manner never before seen here.

This decoration could be had at a small expense to the individual since only two or three trees would be required for most business establishments in the retail district. The sockets in the sidewalk, provided for flags, could be used and a small amount of tinsel trimming would "set the trees off" in fine style under the boulevard lights.

The retail bureau has taken the proposition up and is working on plans for making it a reality. Other towns in this vicinity are following in the procession since it was announced that Lima probably would adopt this plan of decoration. It would be fine if all cities and towns in this district would use rows of Christmas trees on their streets this year. It would help awaken the Yuletide spirit that seemingly has been waning in some sections. Too many persons do not get the real spirit of the season until about two days before Christmas. Then they rush about, trying to cram into the few hours what they should have given several days to. And the worst part of it all is that they are not the only sufferers. The overworked clerks, already worn to a frazzle, bear the brunt of this carelessness.

Let's decorate the streets soon. December 10, would not be any too early, and let's get our shopping out of the way early. Buy early, mail early and be in a better state to enjoy the great holiday when it arrives.

Cruelty To Animals

Jack London club members, men, women and children—banded together for the purpose of discouraging cruelty to animals, must have read with a chill of horror the details of the use of a pair of guinea pigs in aid of pathological research in connection with the effort to establish whether Mrs. Sheatsley, wife of a Columbus minister, was murdered before her body entered the furnace at the family home, where it was practically incinerated.

A chemist, examining the lung and esophagus of the unfortunate woman, declared that lack of the presence of soot and ash in the throat and lungs proved to his satisfaction that the woman was dead before the body was burned, and that she did not breathe after the fire struck her body.

Now comes another tragedy. This time it concerns only the lower animals. The case was turned over to a pathologist. Two little guinea pigs, nibbling away at sweets, and squealing their delight in the only manner they knew how, were carried to the Sheatsley home. A fire was regulated in the furnace as nearly in conformity as possible as on the day the tragedy occurred there.

When the "stage" was properly set, the dumb animals were sacrificed on the altar of science. They were cast into the fire—alive—so that a scientist might determine after their death whether they had breathed after striking the fire. What a pitiful and cruel thing to do! As officials, scientists and newspaper reporters looked on, the animals raced about inside the fire pot, over live coals, for 40 seconds, before their little bodies succumbed to the heat. They squealed in terror for more than a minute—sixty long seconds of agony, before death mercifully came. After another minute, when the last convulsive twitch of the bodies had been seen, they were removed from the fire and carried away to the laboratory of the pathologist.

What a spectacle! what wonder is it that men and women are moved to an expression of righteous indignation. Why are such sacrifices—even among dumb animals—necessary in this enlightened age? We boast proudly of our civilization. Truly, as Landor said, "That cruelty which children are permitted to show birds and animals will most probably exert itself on their fellow creatures when at years of maturity."

Witness, the great government of the United States of America, and the state of Ohio, not only countenance such things as dissecting animals while living, or burning them alive, in the name of science, but actually participates in such practices. While we are teaching our children to be kind to dumb animals, we stand unconcernedly by and witness horrors that should bring a shudder.

One sometimes is prone to feel that "man's inhumanity to man" is born of our attitude toward dumb brutes. How quickly one's anger arises when a brutal driver beats a horse. Should anyone in a public manner torture a living thing, he would be promptly arrested. But, in the interest of science! Ah, how differently we view it. What a pity it is that science did not hide from the world its cruel act at Columbus. Mankind would have been spared an added horror.

o o o

Transportation Systems

This country of ours has more than 251,000 miles of railroad tracks. That's a third of the world's total. From this we get a fairly close idea of America's importance in the world.

In laying these rails, we have largely neglected a more natural means of transportation—rivers, lakes and canals. But development along this line will be fast and enormous.

It may be that freight a century from now will be carried chiefly thru the air, tho it seems improbable now.

Rails Booming

Railroads recently have been handling more freight than ever before. Railroad executives say the most significant feature of this is the big volume of "general merchandise" shipments. The boom in this line of traffic means that factories are producing more and stores selling more.

After all, prosperity is the normal condition in America.

Jap Patriotism

The unidentified Jap, who committed suicide in protest against exclusion of Japanese from America, will lie in state in a military cemetery alongside heroic generals. They have made him a hero and martyr.

With Japs patriotism is a form of religious fanaticism. That will be Japan's greatest strength in any future war, which, by the way, will probably be a death-grip with China.

THE EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

HEMORRHOIDS

Cancer is one of the conditions which are too frequently mistaken and maltreated as "piles." In fact, experience has shown that about one-third of all cases purporting to be hemorrhoids (piles) are not at all what they purport to be. Usually it is the sufferer's own mistake; sometimes a physician is accessory, since some physicians are easy going and perfectly willing to accept the patient's ready made diagnosis without a pretense of examination. Nine cases out of 10 of so-called "itching piles" are not piles at all. It is not a health question but an individual medical problem to learn what the trouble is if not piles. The individual who assumes that pain or other discomfort is due to hemorrhoids and embarks upon an expedition of self treatment or "trying" the endless array of "cures" is just a plain everyday fool, as he learns eventually if he is not too deeply submerged in credulity.

There are many quacks in the country who pretend they can cure piles without surgery. These quacks perhaps treat more cases of hemorrhoids and other conditions surgically than all of the reputable physicians or surgeons do, such is the fondness of the public for being humbugged. The catch phrase "without the knife" pleases the simple goof who has run the gamut of self treatments and "guaranteed" remedies. As a matter of fact the ordinary operation for the radical cure of piles does not involve the use of a knife.

A hemorrhoid (or pile) is a varicosity (varicose vein) of the hemorrhoidal vein in the wall of the rectum.

Once in a while varicose veins seem to undergo a spontaneous restoration to normal. But when this happens there is certainly no specific remedy or treatment which can be given the credit. No intelligent person would claim to have a "cure" for varicose vein in any situation. Nobody really has a cure for piles. Surgery offers the only permanent relief—the destruction or removal of the pile of piles.

Persons subject to "attacks" of hemorrhoids at intervals with periods of comparative or perhaps complete comfort between the attacks, sometimes fall into the error of ascribing the interval comfort to "cure" by some nostrum or other. Their testimonials are as ridiculous as the general run of testimonials to the "curative" effects of nostrums. The recurrence of the trouble is only a matter of time. The "cure" has as much to do with the interval of comfort as arch props have with the prevention of baldness.

Why are piles? Why are varicosities in any situation? Fundamentally, the hemorrhoidal plexus or network of veins ill adapted for bearing the weight of the considerable column of blood which these veins, without valves, have to support in the upright posture. The hemorrhoidal veins drain directly into the portal veins (the region of the liver) and neither have the portal veins any valves to help support the blood column, so that any congestion of the liver is likely to involve a similar state in the hemorrhoidal veins. This is the evolutionary cause of piles; in the horizontal posture these veins required no valves and carried no load. The horizontal posture is a mighty good thing to revert to even now, if one is subject to piles or other varicosity.

Mrs. Murphy's Cabbage Salad

I should like to offer my family in testimony of the truth of your praise of cabbage as real health food. Here is a recipe I have found very successful. One head of cabbage sliced off fine; an onion cut up, a slice of fresh tomatoes, if the tomatoes are not perfectly fresh dip them in boiling water, leaving the liquid, put all together last thing before serving, prepare a French dressing with half a cup of olive oil, a tablespoonful of vinegar, a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper mixed thoroly. The usual report on this from family or guests is "More." (Mrs. G. M.)

Alcohol as Fuel

Kindly inform me how many calories there are in one ounce of alcohol. (M. C. F.)

Answer—One ounce of alcohol when burned yields about 217 calories.

Surest Test for Tuberculosis

Can you tell me where I can get a sure test for tuberculosis? (M. T.)

Answer—The examination by a physician or repeated examinations would be the surest test. The findings of the physician may be confirmed by the evidence of bacteriological sputum examination, tuberculin test or roentgenograph.

JUST FOLKS

GETTING OLD

If getting old is thinking back
Along life's winding, dusty track
And picking out a place or two
Where laughter was and memory grew;
If it is living by-gone joys,
Recalling smiling girls and boys
You played with once, and wondering how
They are, and also where, right now;
Repeating tales you often told,
Then truly I am getting old.

If getting old is pondering o'er
The volume of what's gone before,
And walking hand in hand again
With pretty Nellie down the lane,
Or swimming in your favorite pool
With all your playmates after school,
Hearing glad voices, long since stilled,
When every day was laughter-filled,
Finding the past now tipped with gold,
Then it must be I'm getting old.

If getting old is looking on
To where the friends you've loved have gone,
And feeling God is holding you
Closer than as He used to do;
Talking and walking with you more,
Showing you things you missed before
When blindly as a youth you ran;
If it's to glimpse His larger plan
And catch the purpose Heaven must hold,
Then surely I am getting old.

WOMAN FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Faces Court Second Time on Murder Charge

ESCAPES DEATH HOUSE

State Says Mrs. Buzzi Slew Her Lover

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — Out of the shadows of Sing Sing's death house, Mrs. Anna Buzzi was brought back today to the Bronx where she lived and loved Fred Schneider, to be tried in the Supreme Court a second time for her lover's murder.

Women who had known Mrs. Buzzi as a neighbor and friend for many years, stormed the little court house to see how she looked after eleven months in the shadow of the electric chair. Found guilty of first degree murder, Mrs. Buzzi only escaped execution by a grant of the court of appeals awarding her a new trial.

The lifeless form of Schneider, who had been a wealthy contractor, was found at the steering wheel of his automobile on the evening of Feb. 26, 1923.

WOMAN IS SEEN

Nearby, his two Chow dogs whimpered with fear. A veiled woman was seen scurrying from the automobile by a farmer who heard two shots.

Mrs Buzzi had been the contractor's mistress for eight years. A plump, pretty brunette type, she was maintained by Schneider in a little lovenest in the Bronx.

Suspicion turned inevitably toward her, but lacking evidence, the state released her. Then came the tracing of a revolver found at the side of the dead man in the automobile.

It had been the property of an employe of the Barnum and Bailey circus. He had loaned it to William Turk, a taxi-driver, who married Mrs. Buzzi's young sister. Turk said he had borrowed the weapon for Mrs. Buzzi. This was the evidence which a jury on June 26, 1923, found sufficient to return a verdict of guilty of first degree murder against Mrs Buzzi, who collapsed amid exciting court room scenes.

Today, after nearly a year in a Sing Sing cell, past which she has seen a score of murderers stumble in the dawn to the electric chair, Mrs. Buzzi brought a brave smile to the court room, confident of acquittal.

The same women who fought to see her first trial were out in numbers before the court room doors opened pushing and struggling for vantage points from which to see the accused. A new ballot was on the once handsome features that Mrs Buzzi turned towards the two panels of talesman from which the jury was being selected, but she sat bravely erect under the stares and murmurings of her erstwhile friends and neighbors.

TALKED TO DEFENDANT

District Attorney John E. McGeehan, who will attempt to send Mrs Buzzi back to the death house, will find as principal witness for the defense, his own wife.

Mrs. McGeehan talked with Mrs Buzzi at 6 p. m. on the evening Schneider was murdered. The exact hour of the shooting had been fixed as 5:20 p. m. Mrs McGeehan under cross-examination by her husband will assert that Mrs Buzzi's conversation was not that of an excited woman who had murdered her lover in cold blood 40 minutes before.

The state will attempt to show that Schneider's love for the accused had cooled and that Mrs. Buzzi shot the contractor after he had indicated intention of leaving her.

Special police surrounded the courthouse and were on duty in the corridors and court room today.

MUSCLE SHOALS ABOUT READY

Power Plant May Operate by July 1

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The Muscle Shoals electrical power and nitrate plants will be ready to operate by July 1 next year should congress so desire, Maj. Gen. Taylor, chief of engineers of the army, declared today in his annual report.

Expenditures on the plant are being made at the rate of $800,000 a month. Beginning April 1 next it is expected that the working force which totalled 4,491 employes on June 30 last will be greatly reduced and expenditures from then on will average less than $500,000 a month, indicating full completion of the work by October 1, 1925. The cost of the Muscle Shoals project, including all funds expended from the inception of the work, as revised December 4, 1923, was placed at $51,123,611. There has been appropriated and allotted to June 30 this year $39,258,410.

In addition congress has authorized contracts for future delivery of machinery and materials to the extent of $6,541,590. That amount, it is estimated will be sufficient to complete the project as far as locks and dam are concerned and to complete the power house as far as may be necessary for the installation ready to operate eight main power units, four of 25,000 kilovolt amperes and four of 32,500 kilovolt amperes, leaving the structure in such a condition that the remaining ten main units may be conveniently installed as the market for power demands.

Jilted Lover Holds Views About Women

COLUMBUS, O. — (By United Press) — All alone and heavy of heart, Frank Strear, 31, has returned to Philadelphia, riding on one of the railroad tickets he had purchased for his honeymoon with Jane Conley, 29, pretty dentist's assistant.

Jane is honeymooning near Oneida, N. Y., with Arthur C. House, for whom she deserted Stear on the very eve of her wedding.

Before returning to Philadelphia the unfortunate Strear let drop several uncomplimentary remarks about women in general, indicating that it will be a cold day before he becomes engaged to another out-of-town girl.

Telegrams received by Jane's mother here said Jane had run away with House because she loved him more and asked that the trousseau which had been prepared for the first planned honeymoon be forwarded to Oneida.

KORETZ FORTUNE

Alleged to Be Secreted in New York Banks

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Cash and negotiable securities to an amount ranging between $500,000 and $750,000 possessed by eo Koretz who is wanted in Chicago in connection with alleged stock swindles totalling approximately $2,000,000 are secreted in various New York banks, in the opinion of Alphonse F. Spiegel, attorney and representative of the Chicago Title and Trust Co.

Spiegel who is here representing claimants against the alleged swindler, said that Koretz before leaving for Chicago yesterday gave him a signed legal instrument assigning to him all his properties found anywhere in the world, surrendered about $100,000 and revealed the details of his financial operations in this city after his disappearance from Chicago.

Spiegel also declared that Koretz and George R. Christian, alleged embezzler of $2,500,000 from the bankrupt stock exchange firm of Day and Heaton, in which he was a partner, were business acquaintances and possibly partners in fraud. He said that Christian had given Koretz an endorsed blank check which had been cashed for $30,000.

BISHOP BROWN FILES BRIEF

Church Dignitary Charges Error in Heresy Case

CLEVELAND — (By United Press) — Bishop William Montgomery Brown, convicted of heresy by an Episcopal Tribunal here, filed his grounds of error today charging:

1—That the tribunal was "loaded" by irregular elections, staged for the purpose of ousting him from the church.

2—That his rights in the trial were invaded by refusal of the court to permit him to introduce affidavits of witnesses.

3—That he was refused permission to examine the tribunal members who were both judge and jury and who, he had reason to believe, had formed antagonistic opinions before the trial opened.

4—That the court failed to specify the doctrine which he was charged with violating.

The brief, a 104-page document, cites eight other grounds of error on which Bishop Brown bases his appeal. The appeal will be heard by a court of review here Jan. 13.

The review tribunal will sit in the vestry of Trinity Cathedral where the trial was held last June.

The brief was sent to all bishops and rectors of the Episcopal in America with an appeal for a charitable reading of his defense.

Bishop Brown was found guilty of errors of doctrine in 23 quotations for his book, "Communist and Christianism."

BANKS HARMED

Dawes Holds Congressional Action is Needed

WASHINGTON — The national banking system of the country faces ruin unless congress acts to liberalize branch banking laws which now are seriously discriminating against it, Comptroller the Currency Henry M. Dawes declared in his annual report here today.

"It is my deliberate opinion," said Dawes, "that if the general extension of branch banking is not carried within the federal reserve system on the one hand and if the national banks are not permitted equality within city limits on the other hand, defections from the national banking system will take place within a period of a very few years to such an extent as to reduce the national banking system to the position of an unimportant factor in the nations financial structure."

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

It has been quite a time since I have written to you so I think I will write a little more. You helped me very much. It is the case of a boy. Miss Smart, I suppose you think some girls have an awful time with the boys, but they don't worry me much. There is one, who is continually on my mind, however. I love this young man very much. I say this because I never have felt towards anyone else like I do towards this one. I would never go with him because he drank. He quit that then but some how or other it turned me against him. I thought I didn't care for him any more. I went with three other boys but somehow I did not feel as tho I could go with them more than once. I quit them all now, but this one and he has changed a great deal. He goes out with girls of questionable character, and it sure cuts like a knife. These girl friends tell me every time he goes down there. It cuts deep to think he goes to see such girls. He loves me I am sure as he told me every time I am with him. Should I talk to him and make him see why he is wrong? I love him well enough to do most anything to save him from going so low. I can't forget him so please answer real soon. W. J. D.

Evidently the young man is not in love with you or he would not go out with these girls, whose reputations you have told me are not just as they should be. He should know that this would make you feel badly. If he first drank and then later went with these girls you speak of he is not worthy of your time or thought. There are many young men in this world, who would appreciate your company. Of course, if you feel that you care for this young man, talk to him and tell him just exactly your view of the question and then if he continues to do things which are humiliating to you, forget him. Time heals every wound.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am a young married woman of 23 and my husband isn't the gallant man I had married. He expects me to build the furnace fire, carry out the ashes and to wait on him hand and foot. Anytime I don't "hop" when he mentions his wants he tells me that is no more than his mother would do. And when she comes to visit I can well believe it. She makes him feel abused, if I happen to be in the softest chair. Why won't mothers raise their sons to be husbands? DOUBTFUL WIFE.

It seems to be a little too much for a mother to raise her son with "the other woman" in mind who some day will snatch him from her side. But it's a sure thing, that if more mothers would do this, the divorce docket would be clean. Perhaps the mother feels, if they raise their son not to be husbands they will be returned to them, so she can have him once again.

WRECKAGE OF UNKNOWN VESSEL WASHED ASHORE

CUTTYHUNK, Mass — Wreckage washed ashore here yesterday, indicating that a vessel had been damaged or lost, was still unidentified today. An address, "Medical Officer, U. S. S. Camden,' which appeared on a case of naval medical supplies was unexplained as all vessels of that name were apparently accounted for and the name did not appear on log book or chart house which were included in the wreckage.

From a description of the straw and grey color of the shattered chart house navy and coast guard officials said it appeared to have been a navy vessel, but suggestions were advanced that it might have been sold and converted into rum running or other purposes.

At the Quilna

Gloria Swanson adds another splendid characterization to her versatile list of pantomine roles—this time she appears as an Italian girl, a product of the slums, in her latest pictorial effort, "Wages of Virtue."

With its background of the headquarters of a contingent of the Foreign Legion in Algiers, the photoplay unlocks a flood of thoughts regarding the blighted lives of many of the men, who are burying their identities under French uniforms in the blazing sun of northern Africa.

Lithe and vivacious, with swiftly changing moods, Miss Swanson plays the part of Carmelita, who is rescued from drowning by Luigi, strong man with a traveling circus. He trains the girl to become a member of the troupe and after killing a young violinist in a moment of jealousy over Carmelita, enlists in the Foreign Legion.

Then we see Carmelita mothering the regiment of gruff soldiers and presiding over the cafe, to which the men come to forget their disappointments and misdeeds.

Marvin, a young American recruit in the Legion, sees Carmelita and falls in love with her, thus incurring the wrath of Luigi. He frames it so that Marvin is condemned to "le peleton," the worst punishment meted out to offenders of the Legion's discipline, but Carmelita brings about his release by bribing one of the guards.

Luigi decides to take matters into his own hands. There is a terrific fight between the two men. The American is worsted but Luigi is stabbed by Carmelita. The men of the Legion swear that they will not reveal the fact that Carmelita killed the giant, all agreeing to testify that he was slain by the Arabs.

Ben Lyon is efficient in the role of the hero and Ivan Linow is splendid as Luigi.

"Cuddle Up"

"Cuddle Up" which opened a week's engagement at the New Orpheum theatre Sunday matinee, is an interesting, entertaining musical play with tuneful music, pleasing dancing and a catchy plot.

In common with many musical plays the plot is light and not in the least wearying with details. Yet there is plenty of opportunity for the interpolation of specialties thruout the show.

Randall O'Neil as Simple Simon is constantly getting into trouble with his wife and with others in the play. He plays the "dumbell" part in a very interesting manner. Iona Jacobs, as the wife, is interesting in her efforts to get ahead despite her husband.

New Orpheum patrons will find this attraction to compare favorable with other offerings this year.

At the Lyric

Marion Davies' latest cinema achievement, "Yolanda", had its initial showings Sunday at the Lyric theatre and it stands out as one of the most artistic productions of the entire year. It is beautiful in its settings, skillful in its direction and excellent in the acting.

The entire production is full of the glamour of the fifteenth century France. The story was adapted from Charles Major's novel of the same name and gives the talented star a latitude of characterization even greater than that which she had in "Little Old New York." In these pictures she is called upon to delineate two characters that are quite different. In "Yolanda" Miss Davies appears as Princess Mary of Burgundy and as Yolanda, a burglar maid. She gives a finished performance in both characterizations.

A comedy and other features complete the program.

"Rain"

One of the most talked of plays in recent years will be seen at the Faurot Opera house Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee. This is "Rain" the play that appeared for two years in New York city.

"Rain" is not suggestive. Immoral or of a "problem" nature yet it has aroused more discussion and comment among those who have seen it than any play in recent years.

It is a play that will prove the greatest single item of discussion Friday after the first performance has been seen, if Lima reacts the same way as other cities where it has been offered.

"Thief of Bagdad"

It is a far cry from the "animated" pictures first introduced by Thomas A. Edison and his brother inventors and "The Thief of Bagdad" with Douglas Fairbanks as presented at the Faurot Opera house Sunday night.

While trick photoplay was featured in those days the directors never were able to master the art as well as the present day producer. The magic of the orient lived and breathed as the action of this marvelous picture was revealed.

Doug is his old self. That means he fits perfectly in the Arabian Nights story and that your heart is with Ahmad, the thief, from the first scene until the end when "Happiness Must Be Earned" gives you the secret of his final success.

Atmosphere is an important item in the presentation of any theatrical offering, one realizes this after seeing "The Thief of Bagdad" for here the motion picture, which if presented in the ordinary manner would merely be a very good production, becomes a masterpiece.

The Arabian Chanter, the Arabian musicians, the faint odor of oriental incense; all combine to bring out every detail of the production in a manner that makes you almost imagine the characters to be real persons appearing in the flesh.

"The Thief of Bagdad" is an offering that should be seen by both motion picture fans and those appreciating a theatrical attraction. ...sentation at the Fa... new mark in local ...cles.

CORRIGAN

by EDMUND SNELL

— THE FASCINATING MISS PATERSON

"Fellowes!" shouted Corrigan suddenly from the veranda rail, "bring me those binoculars, will you!"

The first assistant, lean, spare and hatchet-faced, left the map he had been studying intently, and went over to where a deal table stood in a corner by the wall.

"Right hand drawer, isn't it?" he demanded.

"That's the ticket. Quick, old man. There's something here I don't quite understand."

The proprietor of the Orang-Puteh estate was gazing intently through a convenient lane purposely left between the rubber trees to where, at the foot of the slope, two white-clad forms were checking a heap of trunks. The morning train had just arrived. A tall Sikh watchman, resplendent in the inevitable turban and the new livery of khaki with bright red piping, was shouting something to a mandor whose coolies were laboriously weeding. A couple of nude children and a bent native who had nothing better to do, were regarding the newcomers with intense interest.

Fellowes handed over the binoculars. Corrigan focused them swiftly and carefully.

"It's a woman," declared the assistant, who was possessed of long sight.

Corrigan discarded the glasses with evident disgust.

"Damn!" he said loudly.

"She's deuced good looking," pursued Fellowes, ignoring the proprietor's remark. "Nicely turned out too. Seems to know her way about. Don't much care for the chap who's with her. Watchman Number Two looks mighty impressed. By Gad! She must speak the lingo like a native."

"You don't happen to notice the name she's got sewn on her petticoats, at that distance?" growled Corrigan sarcastically.

Fellowes grinned amiably.

"What's wrong?" he inquired, coming round to face the other.

The great Corrigan folded his arms.

"Wrong! Why, the place'll be swarming with women before we know where we are! I didn't bargain for this. I can give you my word. When they sent me his pedigree from Singapore, I thought we were on a good thing. The agents assured me we couldn't have a better man to replace young White while he's away, and hinted that, with the riff-raff that's pouring out east just now, we'd be wise to look round and see if we couldn't squeeze him in as a permanency!"

Fellowes whistled.

"And you hadn't a notion he was married!"

"Good Lord, no! It's upset all my calculations. The shack I set apart for this new chap can hardly be looked upon as married quarters. You know what women are. Mrs. White won't thank me, on her return, if she finds I've allowed a strange mem to occupy their place.

Fellowes gazed over his shoulder toward the unwelcome intruder who, by this time, was already half-way up the slope, the man following a couple of yards behind.

"She can have my place," he blurted out suddenly.

Corrigan started as if he had been stung.

"My poor old idiot!" he cried compassionately, "you can't be serious!"

"It'll solve the problem at any rate."

Corrigan thought. Presently he stuck his hands deep in his pockets and frowned.

"All right. If you're fool enough to turn out for them—so be it! But, you can take it from me that young man's in for a pretty warm quarter of an hour when I get him alone, and I'll savor those damned agents with a piece of my mind, at the same time."

"I suppose it is a bit thick," agreed Fellowes. "After all, our jolly little island's no place for women-folk. Wonder if she plays tennis?"

He surveyed himself in a cracked mirror which hung on the wall. A wealth of blue bristle reminded him rather forcibly that he had omitted to shave that morning. He wore no tunic and a somewhat weather-stained cricket shirt, the sleeves rolled up to the elbows, exposed a gauze singlet of which the top button was missing. His khaki slacks had shrunk so that their lower extremities exposed, above his brown canvas boots, quite a noticeable amount of dark blue sock that was guiltless of suspenders.

Corrigan watched him with an amused smile.

"I won't offer to oblige you with a change, old bean," he said. "Your somewhat unprepossessing appearance may have the desired effect. She'll think she's fallen in with a crowd of brigands—and decide to take the next boat home!"

"Good morning!" A voice like the tinkling of a bell came from the foot of the short flight of wooden steps.

"Good morning," echoed Corrigan. "Come in out of the sun. Morning, Paterson. I suppose you are Paterson?"

"That's my name," replied a tall, slim youth, with a fresh, pink-and-white complexion. He followed the girl o nto the veranda. "Me—er—sister was staying with some old friends in Singapore—and insisted on coming with me. I hope that's all right?"

A swift glance, full of deep meaning, passed between Corrigan and his first assistant.

"I'm afraid you won't find this much of a health resort, Miss Paterson," he told her, pushing forward a cane chair. She extended an incredibly small hand and Corrigan held it for a moment in his huge paw. He greeted her brother with grim cordiality and proceeded to introduce Fellowes.

"How do you do?" There was something more than friendliness in the light that flashed from those bewitching violet eyes. The first assistant, knocked completely off his balance by the unexpected news that this amazingly attractive woman was actually unattached, forgot for the moment a two-days' growth of beard and abbreviated nether garments. He responded effusively, holding her fingers for quite a second longer than was absolutely necessary. A look from Corrigan brought him to his senses.

"I've heard quite a lot about you in Singapore, Mr. Corrigan," said Miss Paterson, nestling comfortably in the cushions. "You used to be in Perak, didn't you? My friends - - the Davises—were up there, too, for quite a while."

"Davis," repeated Corrigan thoughtfully, "Davis? Pretty usual name out here, Miss Paterson. What was he? Accountant of some sort or other?"

"Yes," said the girl very positively. "A chartered accountant. They're frightfully nice people, you know. He's doing awfully well. Of course they sent you their salaams."

"Thanks. Been out east very long, Miss Paterson?"

"Oh, no!" She turned to her brother who was leaning against the rail, talking to Fellowes. "How long have I been out here, Teddy?"

"A couple of months, more or less."

"Yes, that's all. O'you know, I simply adore the tropics. I feel as if I've been out here all my life!"

"Ah!" commented Corrigan, getting to his feet. "Mr. Fellowes has very kindly put his bungalow at your disposal and has decided to migrate to the one I had intended for your brother."

"I say," protested Paterson. "That's awfully good of you, and all that; but we really can't hear of your turning out, can we Enid?"

"I should say not, indeed. Can't we manage to fit in somehow?"

Before Fellowes could reply, Corrigan broke in rather abruptly.

"Sort it out among yourselves. Mr. Fellowes'll take you across there now. I'll get the men to follow with your barang. Paterson, as soon as you get settled down, run across and see me. I want to have a few words with you. Say between four and five. Good morning, Miss Paterson. I shall be seeing something of you, of course. You're only a couple of miles from me. Cheery-ho, everybody!"

He watched them start along the winding path which led over the hills to the house of his first assistant. He stayed at the opening between the blue sun blinds until they were lost to sight round a bend in the road, then turned suddenly and dropped into the chair Enid Paterson had vacated. As he reached for the cigaret tin, Fellowes plunged back up the steps.

"Left my damn map," he explained breathlessly. He folded the thing carefully and stuck it in a trouser pocket. He paused for a second in front of Corrigan.

"Well, what'd you think of her? Not bad, what?"

Corrigan snorted.

"I'll give you my opinion of that lady—later on!"

"I hope you'll be better soon," retorted Fellowes maliciously, and ran down the steps, ducking to avoid the book Corrigan slung after him.

"The strange thing is," mused the planter to himself from the depths of his long chair, "that I never remember meeting a chartered accountant whose name was Davis, and I've not yet discovered the pretty woman who could completely master the Malay language in two months!"

* * *

On a certain evening, as a fiery sun descended below the topmost tips of the waving rubber trees, the first assistant sat, as was his wont, on the steps of his veranda. Sundown!—the blissful moment of the weary, sweltering day when, by the laws of the dwellers of the orient, square bottles are permitted to put in an appearance! Paterson had not yet returned from his side of the vast Kabun. Enid was ,presumably indulging in a secluded siesta, and Fellowes was engaged in a grim struggle with what he imagined to be his inmost soul.

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I read in a magazine the other day, little Marquise, that after a man and woman were married some years they acquired something better and even sweeter than the thrill of passionate love.

Little Marquise, you never married your kingly lover, so of course you do not believe that and let me make a confession right here to you: Neither do I believe it. I haven't as yet acquired anything that is sweeter than my love for Jack and I want to love him just as I did the day when I married him 'mid the pomp and ceremony of a church wedding. I want to love Jack just as I did when I found out that he had probably loved another girl before quite as much as he did me now and my heart nearly broke. I want to love him just as much as I did when I forgave him for loving someone before he loved me—for making me realize always that nothing of love that he could say to me, he had not before said to another woman.

I want to love him so much that I can only ask, "Do you love me best?" instead of "Do you love me only?" I want to love him so much that I can be that almost impossible thing a companion as well as a sweetheart.

Above all else, I want to be friends with Jack, and I am afraid I am not. He never wants to be friends with me. He either loves me a great deal or hates me, and it makes my heart beat with fear at times because if what every one says is true and married life must be settled down into friendship, then my happiness will not last.

Jack is a most satisfactory lover, little Marquise, when he finds time to make love, but these occasions are few and far between and his mind is taken up with other things. He doesn't seem to think that I have any interest or knowledge of the things that he is interested in the outside world.

For sharing his material interest he goes to Sally Atherton. She knows more about that side of him than I do, much more.

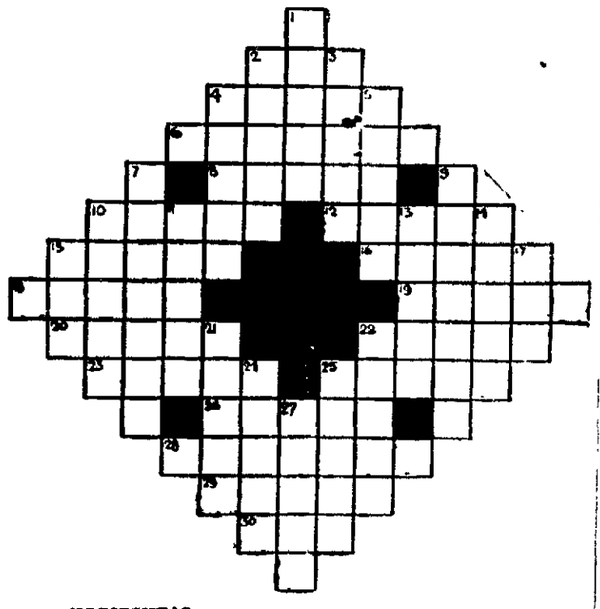

No, little Marquise, I am not jealous of her but I do wish that even if Jack did not take me into his confidence when his business troubles him, he would at times understand that I at least know enough about business to sympathize with him intelligently.

When Women Begin To Lose Youth and Charm

Dr. Frederic S. Kolle, the New York author of medical text books, whose opinions are greatly valued, writes:

"When the nerve tissue begins to lose its vitality, woman begins to lose her youth and vivaciousness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away—she becomes irritable, moody and despondent. It would be a godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Bitro-Phosphate."

Thousands of thin, run-down people whose nervous energy is nearly exhausted are turning to Bitro-Phosphate as dispensed by all good druggists because it re-vitalizes the nerves and brings back energy and mental keenness. adv

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

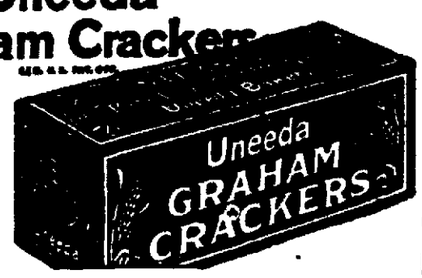

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

10,000,000 FOOTBALL DEVOTEES SEE COLLEGE GAM

Looks Like A War Of Economy Among Minor Circuits; Fight To Abolish High Sala

CHAMPIONS OF EAST MEET COAST ELEVENS

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Football has entertained more than 10,000,000 persons thruout the United States this fall and overflowing college coffers augur well for the game's futre. With sectional championships settled to the extent possible under necessarily brief schedules, California the five year undefeated eleven of the Pacific coast will meet Pennsylvania at Berkeley New Year's Day and at the same time undefeated Notre Dame will play Stanford.

These engagements cannot, however, be considered American championship clashes for such a title could only result from a series in which three eastern teams, as many from the middle west, the southern champions, and at least two coast elevens participated. But they will produce an interesting comparison of football as played on the nation's two coast lines. The eastern season ended in a triple tie, Pennsylvania, Yale and Dartmouth coming thru without defeat altho all participated in deadlocks. Yale captured the "Big Three" honors by defeating Princeton and Harvard. Williams repeated its conquest among the "little three," and at the same time stopped Cornell's three year winning streak.

Illinois, favorite in the Western Conference, was eliminated when Minnesota defeated the eleven led by the formidable "Red" Grange, 20 to 7, Chicago thereby winning the title. Notre Dame, not a member of the conference, defeated three of its elevens, Centre College, which spurted to fame under "Uncle Charlie" Moran now at Bucknell, defeated Alabama, leaders in the southern little series. Centre, however, is not a member of the conference. Florida and Washington and Lee, both rivals of Alabama, will play a deciding game Saturday.

The year has produced numerous stellar individual performers with Grange leading the honors. Cuddeback of Stanford, shouldered the attack which tied California 20 to 20; Garbisch of the Army kicked four field goals to beat the Navy. The toe of Kruez has saved Pennsylvania and that of McBride has won for Syracuse. The west has a quartet besides Grange in Schutte of Minnesota, McCarthy of Chicago and Bob Curley and Raph Baker of Northwestern.

The performance of the Notre Dame quartet, Layden, Stuhldreher, Crowley and Miller, have stood out also.

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK — Only three intersectional games on the Pacific Coast remain to finish the 1924 football season. Syracuse is now enroute for a game next Saturday with the University of Southern California. The University of Pennsylvania and the champion Notre Dame team also have games on New Year's day against California and Stanford.

For the first time in a good many years these inter-sectional games will bring together representatives of their local sections and a fair test of the respective merits of far Western and Middle-western and Eastern football should be acquired.

Notre Dame, beyond all doubt is the greatest team of the year and in Stanford the Indiana eleven will meet a team that has a fair claim to the Pacific Coast championship.

Pennsylvania has one of the three undefeated teams of the east and one of the best in the section and will find in California an eleven that for several years has been one of the best in the country.

Syracuse and Southern California seem to be evenly matched as they have good teams that have done well this year.

With exception of a few minor games to be played next Saturday the season has closed in the south, east and middle-west.

Alabama was chosen the champion team of the Southern Conference but Centre probably will claim the championship of the South by reason of victory over Alabama and Georgia.

Missouri won the championship of the Missouri Valley conference. Chicago won the title in the Western conference. Baylor finished first in the Southwestern conference. Idaho and Goonzaga tied for the top ranking in the Pacific Northwestern conference. Colorado won the title in the Rocky Mountain district for the second successive season.

Dartmouth, Yale and Pennsylvania were undefeated in the eastern sector but they engaged in tie games. The army was not defeated by an eastern team but the cadets lost to Notre Dame and tied with Yale.

The Army won the service championship by beating the Navy in Baltimore before a crowd of 80,000. The great fighting defense of the navy kept its goal line from being crossed and the cadets had to win by four field goals kicked by Ed Garbisch, the captain and star center, who finished eight years of university football in the game.

HAVE TEAM PRAYERS

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (By Associated Press) — The West Point football team prayed before every game played in the past season, Captain Edward Garbisch asserted in his last speech to the team. He attributed the team's victories to the prayers.

Standing on top of the stage coach from which captains of Army elevens have traditionally made their last speeches to the teams, Captain Garbisch said yesterday:

"Before every game this year whether that game seemed to be a hard one or an easy one every man on the squad prayed. We did not pray for victory, only that we might acquit ourselves like men. And after the game Saturday every man on the eleven tore off his headgear and thanked God fervently for the victory."

IN THE MIND'S EYE OF THE SPORT EDITOR

At the annual meeting of the major leagues which is called for January there is sure to be a row regarding the reelection of Judge Kenasaw Mountain Landis. Ban Johnson avowed enemy of the high commissioner will bring to bear all his power and influence to defeat him. Some one said of Roosevelt that to be satisfied it would be necessary for him to be bridegroom at a wedding or corpse at a funeral. Johnson is just the same kind of a fellow.

* * *

Too much baseball politics is the direct cause. This is the curse of high officialdom in the major leagues as it is in national affairs. Landis has the whip hand and he has not failed whenever his duty called to step on the toes of Johnson or any of the other officials, but always with the firm belief that he was doing only his duty. Stern realities and duty in a majority of cases are hard taskmasters. Before the advent of Landis important decisions were handed down by three commissioners; Johnson was one of them.

Important rulings were handed down by Landis with careful deliberation and always with the keen legal mind showing. He never ruled at haphazard. It is an important office; requires a big man to fulfill its duties and Landis proved to be wise and discreet in all his decisions. And some of them were against Johnson, naturally. Ban Johnson deserves much credit for what he has done for baseball, even tho his successes have been against the business interests of the national game, and for his firmness he deserves credit.

The American league, was practically an outlaw organization when it was first organized in 1900. The National league officials fought him tooth and nail, but he accomplished something too big for the older organization to wrestle with; so they made peace; today they work hand in hand. But as the game grew in proportion perplexing problems cropped up. Johnson for the American league, would not satisfactorily handle grave situations for all leagues without unbiased judgment, it could not be expected of him. He was dethroned; his vast power taken away from him and given to Landis. Johnson being only human felt the sting.

SO IN A SELFISH MANNER, PERHAPS, HE VENTS HIS SPLEEN ON LANDIS. IT MUST BE EXPECTED FOR JOHNSON IS A FIGHTER, BUT IS IT FOR THE BEST INTERESTS OF BASEBALL? CERTAINLY NOT; IT IS A DETRIMENT. IT WILL BE HARD TO FIND SO ABLE A MIND TO MANAGE BASEBALL AFFAIRS AS LANDIS. HE'S A MANLY FELLOW; JUST AS MUCH OF A FIGHTER AS JOHNSON WITH KEENER FORETHOUGHT. A WISER MIND TRAINED THRU YEARS OF EXPERIENCE IN THE LAW; A POWER FOR RIGHT AND ENEMY FOR WRONG. BUT IT IS QUITE PROBABLE THAT THE JUDGE WILL BE ELECTED AGAIN, AND IN THIS THE MAGNATES OF THE GREAT NATIONAL PASTIME WILL HAVE DONE A WISE THING.

ED WALSH IS COMING STAR

NEW YORK—Coach Knute Rockne, the genius of Notre Dame football, is not at all worried by the fact that he will lose a number of his best players thru graduation this June.

Rockne says it isn't his custom to worry about the future. He lets that take care of itself. He believes his 1924 team is one of the greatest he ever coached and confident his 1925 model will rival it.

The famous Notre Dame mentor says he has some excellent material in the offing that will be eligible for next year's eleven. For that reason he is not at all concerned about the losing of a number of his stars from this year's team.

Rockne says that Ed Walsh, son of the famous Chicago White Sox pitcher, is a great football prospect for next year. It also might be remarkable that he has the makings of a great pitcher.

BALL STARS ON GRID

Ball players as a rule are ill suited men in football in working out forward pass plays. They can throw and catch.

GRANGE ELUSIVE

Grange of Illinois not only runs fast but also high, making him hard to tackle. That is a big asset.

KAROW A SHORTSTOP

Karow, crack fullback of Ohio State, stars at shortstop in baseball, and is said to be a big league possibility.

ILLINI SELECTS ALL STAR TEAM

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—The Daily Illini, official student paper of the University of Illinois, has selected its mythical all-conference first and second teams. Kassell and Grange, end and half back, respectively, were the Illini placed on the first team, while not one Illinois player was selected for the second. The selections are as follows:

FIRST TEAM

Kassell, Illinois, L. E.
Cox, Minnesota, L. T.
Pondelik, Chicago, L. G.
Claypool, Purdue, C.
Abramson, Minnesota, L. G.
Gewdy, Chicago, R. T.
Cunningham, Ohio State, L. E.
Graham, Minnesota, Q.
Baker, Northwestern, R. H.
Grange, Illinois, L. H.
Schutte, Minnesota, F. B.

SECOND TEAM

Harris, Wisconsin, R. T.
Slaughter, Michigan, R. G.
Technmyer, Wisconsin, C.
Pokrass, Chicago, L. G.
Galloway, Iowa, L. T.

Billy Evans Says

Connie Mack is getting to be a regular spendthrift.

With the world series still fresh in the minds of every fan the off season only two months old, Connie has parted with $170,000 in real money and players.

For that sum of money Mack secures the most sought-after battery in the country, Pitcher "Lefty" Grove of the Baltimore Orioles and Catcher Gordon Cochrane of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

Last season Connie lost any reputation that he might have had for being penurious by spending in the neighborhood of $100,000 for Bishop, Straud and Simmons.

This year, away to an early start, there is no telling what he will do before the opening of the season.

The failure of Strand, and the ordinary showing of Bishop, due to illness and injuries, would have slowed down a less optimistic chap than Connie.

* * *

That it pays to cater to fandom is proved by the fact that the Philadelphia Athletics are double-decking all their stands.

True, Mack's efforts didn't even win a berth in the first division last year, but it convinced the public he was trying.

The Athletics were anything but soft picking last season. They gave real battle to every club. The fans got a run for their money, hence the double deck stands.

Last year Mack's club was just a trifle shy of championship class. It lacked something. In the pinch there was an absence of batting punch. The pitching lacked consistency.

Outfielder Bill Lamar, secured late in the year, apparently supplied the batting punch. Mack is hopeful that the battery strength he has added in Groves and Cochrane will bolster the other weakness.

* * *

During the last two months of the 1924 American League season, the Athletics played better ball than the three favorites, Washington, New York and Detroit. There's something to ponder over.

* * *

It is rather strange that Cochrane had to go to the far west to establish his ability as a player.

Cochrane is an easterner. Last year he attended Boston University in that city. He was one of the star athletes.

It is surprising that neither Boston club got a line on Cochrane. Perhaps it was the fact that he won more fame as a football player than a diamond performer.

Walter Camp lists Gordon Cochrane as one of the country's leading halfbacks in 1923.

The records show that he pulled one of the best kicking stunts of the year against Brown University.

Brown beat Boston 20-3. The three points were the result of a drop kick from the middle of the field by one Gordon Cochrane.

* * *

Undoubtedly the astute Mr. Mack is convinced that a club that gives the opposition a run for its money is a worthwhile venure.

In the last four deals that he has made in his drive for the pennant Mack has expended upwards of $350,000.

GOATS ARE BOXERS

MARSEILLES, France—"Henri" and "Jaques," two boxing goats, have been the feature attraction at many carnivals and fairs thruout France in recent months. The two goats have become proficient in the use of the gloves and are advertised as being able to outbox any other animals in the world—even kangaroos.

He will not allow visitors to see the marvelous animal, however, saying that he will not reveal him to the world until the dog's work has attained perfection. The dog most enjoys reading passages from the Bible, White declares.

COLUMBIA'S CAGE STARS

New York Collegians With Strong Lineup See Visions Of Basketball Championship

LEFT TO RIGHT, LAUB, MANNHEIM, WILSON.

Columbia had a great year on the gridiron last fall. Columbia hopes to have an even better one on the basketball floor this winter. Most of the stars of last season's team are back. A strong line-up is assured and the followers of the Blue and White see visions of the collegiate championship. The team is led by Wilson, a young guard of great skill. Laub, forward, and Mannheim, center, are two other formidables.

TUNNEY MAY GET INTO HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS

BY JOE WILLIAMS

A new punch has been introduced in the boxing game—the LIVER PUNCH. It is the first new punch since Bob Fitzsimmons exploded his famous solar plexus in Jim Corbett's mid-section at Carson City, Nev., back in the late 90's.

Gene Tunney, light heavyweight champion of America, is the author of the new punch. In reality it is a variation of the solar plexus. The attack is centered on the same region. Instead of firing directly at the solar plexus, Tunney shifts somewhat to the side and strikes the liver.

Tunney, analysist and thinker, claims to have gone into minute detail with experts on the effect of various punches. His investigations led him to concentrate on the liver. "No blow when properly and fully landed causes a more instantaneous or complete nerve paralysis," insists Tunney.

Carpentier was dropped by a liver punch in his fight at the Polo Grounds last summer. Tunney caught the Frenchman coming in and hooked a left to the liver. Carpentier dropped to the canvas, writhing with pain and claiming a foul. It was half an hour before he was himself again.

TELLS OF GREATEST THRILL

Tunney says he got his greatest thrill in that fight. It was a sort of negative thrill. Tunney had heard much of Carpentier's great right hand. What's more he had seen the Frenchman drop Levinsky with it and send Dempsey scampering backward across the ring.

"I had plenty of reason to respect it," admits Tunney, "and I was careful every second to keep out of the way. But in the third round it came over, a long sweeping right that nicked me on the point of the jaw. I fully expected to crumple and pass out without further ceremony.

"To my surprise I found that aside from a fleeting sense of dizziness it hadn't bothered me at all. It was a thrill because I had never been cracked by a real puncher before. Before that fight I hadn't been any too sure that I could take it."

Tunney's best weapon is a left hook to the body. This is the blow with which he lands his liver punch. "I'd concentrate entirely on body punches if it weren't for the fans," somments the observant Tunney. "They seem to get a bigger thrill out of head punches. Maybe it's because they like to hear the glove smack against the jaw."

While Tunney is a capable fighter, he is in no sense a great one. This is strange, too, because he is mentally keen, a hard hitter and undeniably game. I think he started out under a stifling handicap when someone told him he was a "gentleman fighter." Tunney took it seriously

"GENTLEMAN FIGHTER" STUFF A HANDICAP

A "gentleman fighter" is probably all right but Tunney gives you the impression of living the role even in the ring. You can imagine how far a "gentleman fighter" is going to get against men like Dempsey, Wills and the other man-handlers. These names are mentioned because Tunney is talking of entering the heavyweight division next year.

What Tunney lacks is the savage instinct, that primitive emotion which sends a battler advancing to midring with the determination to win by a knockout or lose that way. Tunney is entirely lacking in this quality and until he gets it he will never be a great fighter.

In the Carpentier fight Tunney plainly showed his weakness. Once in the tenth round he had the Frenchman helpless but instead of crowding forward with all guns blazing, after the manner of a relentless "killer," Tunney, the gentleman, stepped backward and waited until his victim had regained his senses.

MANDELL MAY SUCCEED LEONARD

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK—(United Press)—Sammy Mandell, a good-looking, polished little gentleman from Rockford, Ill., has a fine chance to succeed Benny Leonard as the lightweight champion of the world if Leonard will permit himself to be succeeded.

Leonard has shown no disposition to defend his title and even if the New York Boxing Commission should apply the corrective measures of a suspension, his successor would not have the prestige or the recognition of a champion who had come into the possession of a title in the orthodox manner.

Mandell looks to be best of the crop of young 135-pounders who are growing into contending class. There are many more experienced and harder hitting aspirants for the class but most of them are in the trick division known as "junior welterweights," a class established by the New York commission and rather generally recognized for those who can't make 135 pounds and who are too light for legitimate welterweights.

Jack Bernstein, former junior lightweight champion, Mandell and Sid Terris are perhaps the only three legitimate lightweights who can be regarded as champion possibilities.

Mandel has beaten Bernstein twice and fought one draw with him. It is true that the last decision Mandell won over Bernstein recently in Madison Square Garden was not by a margin that would eliminate Bernstein from further consideration. But the decision did make it more or less certain that Mandell always can beat Bernstein and that Mandell will improve with experience while Bernstein probably is at the top of his form or perhaps past it.,

While he has been before the public for comparatively short time, Bernstein may be regarded as a young newcomer but he has been fighting for over ten years under various names, which is nothing against him, however.

Mandell is just a kid. He is younger than the age printed in the record book and he is just now filling out and developing into a sound physique. It is because he is young and only becoming matured and fully developed now that Mandell has not shown any great punching power. It will be recalled that Leonard didn't have a great punch when he started out and that he grew into it.

Mandell hits sharply and accurately and it is only natural to assume that he will get more power into his punches when he gets more strength in his shoulders and arms.

NURMI DECLINES LONG RACE WITH OLYMPIC RIVAL

NEW YORK—It is now a sure thing that America will not get to see a repetition of the thrilling Olympic race between Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola in the 5,000 meters.

Nurmi is on his way to this country from Finland. Ritola is already here. The two are to compete in indoor meets.

Nurmi is known as the iron man of the track, due to his endurance feats. But America must be content to see him in the minor events. Nurmi will confine his running to the mile and the mile and a half.

Ritola is said to be willing to meet his countryman in the longer races but Nurmi will have none of it. "I don't care to burn myself out," he explains.

Nurmi beat Ritola in the Olympic 5,000 meters. It was one of the greatest races of the gigantic athletic carnival.

Church Cage Teams Get Busy

Church and Sunday school basketball will open their season Saturday at the "Y" floor, James Evar, Y. M. C. A. physical director, announced Monday.

Six teams will be in each loop this year. Last season the Church league had seven teams, making one team idle each week, but it was thought best to have an even number of teams this year and six was the number decided upon.

Teams that are entered in the Church league are: First U. B., South Side Church of Christ, First Baptist, Grace M. E., First Reformed and Central Church of Christ, Trinity M. E. and Market-st Presbyterian, which entered teams last year, failed to get into the loop this year, while First Reformed is the only new team in the league. Sunday school league teams are: South Side Church of Christ, Trinity M. E., Market-st Presbyterian, First Baptist, First United Brethren, and Grace M. E. The league had only five teams last year. Grace M. E. is the new addition.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE

The Sunday school league will play three games every Saturday afternoon beginning at 2:00, while the Church loop also will play three games, beginning at 7 p. m.

Church Athletic Council will meet at 7 p. m. Monday at the Y. M. C. A. to work out a schedule and to decide upon eligibility rules and other business pertaining to the two leagues. The council is composed of the following team representatives: John Fowler, of Market-st Presbyterian, chairman; Charles Cook, of Grace M. E., secretary-treasurer; Elwood Thomas, First U. B., Hugh S. Graham, Trinity M. E.; Lee Britt, South Side Church of Christ; P. M. Sneider, First Baptist; Donald Snook, First Reformed, and Lloyd Yoakum, Central Church of Christ.

St. Rose Have Hard Work Ahead

After routing the first game bugbear by defeating the Dunkirk quintet last Friday, the St. Rose cage team will begin drilling for their more important early season games notably the clashes with the strong Columbus Aquinas five at St. Rose on Dec. 12 and with their traditional rivals, Delphos St. John's at Delphos on Dec 16.

Manager Mulligan of St. Rose has, as yet, been unable to book a game for Friday but he is in touch with several teams and expects to bring one of them to Lima to provide opposition for the Rosarians.

All of the St. Rose players came out of last Friday's encounter in good condition and are ready for the hard workouts which Coach Young will probably send them thru this week. The St. Rose mentor started a veteran line-up in the Dunkirk encounter with the exception of Fred Stoll, who filled the left forward position Stoll, one of last year's reserves turned in a very satisfactory performance, but is expected to improve as he gains experience. Duffy and "Bob" Dimond, other new men, also broke into the game as subs and showed good form.

EASTERN LEAGUE MAPPED OUT NEW P

HARTFORD, Conn — (By Associated Press) — ball magnates here for the annual meeting of the Association of Professional Baseball Leagues wh tomorrow and continues Wednesday and Thurs enthusiastic today over the wave of economy whi ing momentum in minor league baseball.

Dan O'Niel, president of the Eastern League up a representative of nearly every minor leagu his platform of three economy planks. Advocating of high salaries, elimination of what he terms greatest evil, the bonus, and a substantial reduction in the number of optional players on minor league teams, O'Neil said today he would demand that minor league clubs adhere strictly to the letter of the law in the matter of salary limit.

Two issues likely to cloud the atmosphere of what otherwise will be a peaceful session are a proposal to give minor league players sold to the majors ten per cent of the purchase price and plan for a most valuable player award similar to the one now in effect in the National and American leagues. The American association holds its annual meeting today. The International League will meet tomorrow to consider matter unsettled at its New York meeting last week.

BASEBALL MEN GATHER

HARTFORD, Conn. — (By United Press) — Hundreds of Clubowners, managers and officials from the minor leagues gathered here today for the annual meeting of the National Association starting tomorrow.

Mixing with the minor magnates were several major league owners and managers who were nosing around to see what was for sale and what could be bought in the way of playing material from the little fellows.

With the exception of the Baltimore club, which has Joe Boley for sale and the San Francisco club which has several good prospects there was no heavy market. Boley is understood to have been promised to the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds are reported to have first call on the San Francisco stars.

In addition to the general meeting of the association many of the individual leagues will hold annual meetings while the big conference is on. The draft question seems to have been settled permanently as there was little but routine business on the program.

Dolly Stark Is Shot To Death

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (By Associated Press) — Monroe "Dolly" Stark, former major league baseball player and in 1916, manager of the Memphis club of the Southern Associaition, was shot and killed by Harry S. Atkinson in Stark's roadhouse on the outskirts of Memphis early today. The men quarreled, according to witnesses, and Stark was killed with his own pistol which had been taken from his bed room.

Atkinson, treated at a hospital for injuries to his nose, said "Dolly" had been drinking and hit me over the nose with a poker."

Atkinson was jailed. Stark was born here 35 years ago. His first league experience was with the Little Rock club of the Southern association.

He later played shortstop for the Brooklyn Nationals and Toledo and Dayton.

SENATORS' WEAKNESS

No major league club is weaker in reserve infield strength than Washington, the world champs. Manager Harris is well aware of it.

COLLINS STILL GOOD

Despite the fact that he has been playing 17 years, Eddie Collins was just about the best baserunner in the American League last year.

WHEAT REACHES NEW LEVEL

Frost Reports Have Decided Effect on Market

GAINS ARE MATERIAL

Corn and Oats Also Take Upward Swing

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press)—Wheat ran up rapidly today to new high price records for the season. Frost reports from Argentina, boding ill for the crop yield in that country were chiefly responsible for the rise in values. The fact that deliveries on December contracts had apparently gone into strong hands tended also to lift prices. The opening which ranged from 1-4c to 1 1-8c higher with Decmeber $1.54 5-8 to 1.55 and May $1.63 to 1.63 1-4, was followed by material further gains.

Corn and oats took an upward swing with wheat and as a result of the fact that December corn deliveries were smaller than had been expected. After opening at 1-4 to 1 1-8c higher, May $1.22 1-8 to 1.22 1-2, the corn market eased down a little but then went higher than before.

Oats started unchanged to 3-8c higher, May 58 1-2 to 58 3-4 and later continued to ascend.

Owing to sympathy with grain, provisions were firmer, notwithstanding a decline in the hog market.

10 Shootings Included In Crime Wave

CHICAGO— (By United Press) —Four men were killed in ten shootings and 23 robberies in Chicago in the last 30 hours. Four of the shootings were classified as murders by police.

Hugh A. Stewart, a banker cashier, shot and killed William A. Warren, a policeman, mistaking him for a thug about to attack his wife. He wounded two other policemen.

Luke Reesor, an elevated railway cashier, shot and killed Charles H. Hendricks, 26, a war veteran. Reeser told police he shot when he found Hendricks attempting to rifle his cash drawer while he was temporarily absent. Police said he had been drinking and arrested him.

Harry Atkins, 19, shot and killed his uncle, Thomas Kelly, 40, who, he said, was beating his mother. He shot, he told police, to protect his mother and sister from the uncle who came to their home intoxicated.

The body of a well-dressed, unidentified man with a large bullet hole thru his head was found on the side walk outside a west side saloon. Police say they found bloodstains and evidences of a struggle inside the sallon. The owner of the saloon, his wife and their two children, 11 and 13, years old, were detained for questioning.

Two young bandits forced their way into the apartment of Mrs. Ethel Shaw, wife of a jewelry salesman, bound and gagged her and then looted the place of $1,000 worth of jewelry and $75 cash.

Charles Thompson, 23, a pharmacy student, was shot twice and probably mortally wounded early today when he attempted to frustrate the robbery of the drug store in the building in which he lives.

WHEAT AND RYE HOLD FIRM

Fluctuations Follow Speculative Demand in Markets

CORN BUYING IS SLOW

Oats and Barley Develop Weaker Tone During Week

Wheat and rye prices fluctuated with the speculative demand during the week ending Nov. 29 but the market for these grains continues in a firm position, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States Department of Agriculture. The increased movement of new corn, together with a limited demand and scarcity of storage space weakened the corn market. The market for oats and barley also developed a weaker tone as the demand continued dull.

Renewed export buying of wheat and less of reselling by foreign buyers had a strengthening effect upon the wheat market and prices recovered the losses of the previous week. December wheat at Minneapolis reached the highest point of the crop on Monday and this delivery was also very firm at other markets.

The foreign market situation was practically unchanged. There was some unfavorable crop news from Argentina but as the Buenos Aires market was not affected these reports had little influence on United States markets. Threshing has begun in some of the northern sections and will soon become general in other sections.

The cash demand for wheat continued active in most markets. Premiums for spring wheat at Minneapolis were practically unchanged. Duluth was offering surplus milling wheat to Minneapolis mills at current prices. Durum wheat offerings were heavier and premiums weakened. The trading basis was changed to the December.

Receipts of hard winter wheat were again smaller which reflected the small country movement and the extremely light stocks in farmers' hands. Premiums for high protein wheat were well maintained, 13 percent selling around 10 cents over the December price at Kansas City. The export demand for hard winter wheat was more active for spot and January shipment and bids for January loading were 14 cents over the Chicago December f. o. b. vessel at the Gulf. These bids, however, were about 1 cent below the replacement prices and exporters did not sell freely on these bids.

DEMAND FIRM

There was an improved milling demand for red winter wheat and the market regained its firm tone. Soft winter wheat mills reported some improvement in the demand for their flour and feed and were again in the market for wheat. The scarcity of offerings caused active bidding for the desirable grades. No. 2 red winter wheat at Chicago sold as high as 11 cents over the December price during the week.

The receipts of new corn were larger during the current week but the demand was not active and was scarcely sufficient to absorb the current offerings. Feeders hesitated to make large purchases at the present price level and industries were the principal buyers at most of the larger markets. Elevator interests brought very little as their space is almost taken up with other grains.

The country movement of corn in the Southwest was of good volume and generally of good quality. Because of the heavy offerings of kafir and milo at lower prices the market for corn was rather draggy. There was an active demand at Kansas City from feeders in Iowa and surrounding territory, where the crop is short this year. Yellow grades were particularly strong at the more northern markets and receipts were scarcely sufficient for the current demand. Offerings of old corn and the higher grades of new were taken readily at all markets but the lower gardes of new corn were generally slow sale.

Oats prices held fairly steady but the market developed a weaker tone. Stocks in the markets are slightly heavier while the demand is not active. There has been very little export demand for oats and domestic shipping sales are limited.

The barley market was also easier. While good malting barley was in fair demand feeding grades were slow.

The flax market held steady altho offerings were rather heavy and foreign markets were lower. Crushers are experiencing an active demand for oil and are continuing to absorb the current receipts.

RADIO PHOTOS ARE SENT

Likenesses Transmitted Over Ocean in Twenty Minutes

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Trans-Atlantic transmission of photographs by radio is a reality.

Portraits of President Coolidge, Premier Stanley Baldwin, the Prince of Wales and Owen D. Young were among those dispatched by wireless from London during a test conducted by the Radio Corporation of America at its offices. A jiggling stylus drew these pictures on an oscillating cylinder and 20 minutes after each original had been put on the air in London, it was reproducted in New York.

Officials of the company say the invention, an all-American instrument, by which not only pictures but printed messages may be transmitted, is a complete success.

The divice was developed by C. H. Ttylor, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation; E. F. W. Alexander, consulting engineer and R. H. Ranger, directing engineer. With but little refinement they explained, their process will be available for trans-Atlantic transportation of news pictures, secret business messages, diplomatic correspondence and identification photographs of criminals for police purposes.

The cost of transmission of a picture is between $30 and $40. This computation is based on the number of words that could be sent at toll rates during the 20 minutes required for the despatch of a picture. It is expected, however, that the sending time will be reduced considerably in the near future.

TRIO ARRESTED

Police Begin Roundup of Suspected Robber Band

CELVELAND — (By United Press) — On the capture of three suspects in the robbery of the Madison heights branch of the Cleveland Trust Co., police believe they have placed a damper on the crime enthusiasm.

One of the suspects was arrested in Detroit, where Cleveland detectives were reported hot on the trail of tow others suspected as participating in the robbery. At the same time they were seeking a woman believed to have been the "brains of the gang."

Two suspects were arrested in Fremont when they called to claim an auto left there on Nov. 23.

Police are confident the three under arrest can be identified as members of the gang of five that escaped with $17,000 from the bank last Friday.

The gang came here on Nov. 23, stole an auto in which they staged the holdup and made their escape. Then they changed machines and returned to Detroit.

Police arrested 192 Saturday and Sunday nights in the dragnet ordered by Safety Director Edwin Barry Saturday.

FURTHER MYSTERY SEEN IN BANKER'S DEMISE

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal. — While reports on the final autopsy over William S. Fee, slain Alhambra banker, were awaited here today, authorities turned their attention to another mystery which may have its explanation in murder.

James Wynn, taxi-cab driver who carried in his machine two principals in Fee investigation is missing. His bloodstained automobile was located yesterday in Santa Ana, Cal. The possibility of Wynn having been killed because he knew too much about the Fee case is being considered.

HUNTING PARTY LEAVES ON PENNSYLVANIA TRIP

A truck seen leaving Sheriff Crosson's residence Saturday night is believed by deputies to have excited the suspicions of some person who telephoned the police "liquor was changing hands at 116 W. North-st."

The truck was heavily loaded with provisons, and camping equipment but no wet goods. Sheriff Crosson, L. C. Rise and Ben Miller left Sunday for two weeks hunting in the mountains of Pennsylvania. The truck loaded with their equipment preceded them Saturday night.
